U. S. Forces Closing In On Defenders Of Saar Valley

Blackout Masks Huge New Drive By Third Army

Early Penetration And Seizure Of Saar Valley Is Now Indicated By Moves

RUHR PROGRESS ALSO EXPECTED

By J. C. OESTREICHER

Another security blackout on war developments in Europe—always indicative of monumental events in the making—was imposed by General Eisenhower today to mask from the enemy the progress of a tremendous new drive by the United States Third Army under command of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr.

See Saar Valley Seizure
In co-ordination with an attack by troops of the American Seventh Army commanded by Lieut. Gen. Alexander M. Patch and part of Lieut. Gen. Jacob L. Devers' powerful Sixth Army group which promised an early penetration and seizure of the rich Saar Valley, Patton's veterans lashed out against retreating German forces with a speed that indicated Coblenz would be captured by nightfall.

Simultaneously, the United States First Army continued to exploit its bridgehead across the Rhine at Remagen, gaining two additional miles to carve deeper into Germany's last-ditch defenses on the western front.

In that tremendously vital area of the European conflict, sparse and fragmentary dispatches indicated heavy fighting and painful progress.

But the Third and Seventh Army sweeps appeared to be the em-

One week from Saturday is the next waste paper collection date in New Castle. Paper is more vitally needed than at any time in the progress of the war. Do your part to aid.

Almost summer weather conditions of the past couple of days, marked by a thunder shower last night, have given a very green tinge to the grass on city lawns already.

Yesterday was a very fine day, as everyone will agree, but just a year ago yesterday, it was even a little bit nicer. Yesterday's maximum temperature was 70 degrees. A year ago on the same date it stood at 74. But don't forget, on March 19, and 20th, three inches of snow fell. So don't throw away your overcoat yet.

J. Arthur Turek reports that a pair of robins are busy building their nest in a tree on his place at 31 Fern street. Another harbinger of spring.

Although some may doubt it, honey bees and a butterfly were seen in a North Hill yard yesterday. A fly was also spotted gambling in city hall.

Fish protectors were seeking assistance today as trout will be stocked at 11:15 a. m. Monday in Slippery Rock creek. The fishermen are to meet at McCracken's bridge, Route 19.

Speculation Is Rife On Hitler's Future

By JOHN E. LEE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, March 16.—As General Eisenhower's armies press in from the west and Marshal Stalin's grind forward from the east, Hitler's personal predicament today is becoming more and more that of a rat in a catch-em-alive trap.

If he escapes from the trap, he may try—like a rat—to hide out in some cellar, his identity and all hope lost, a forlorn, futile, cringing obscurity his only protection.

Spell Will Snap
When the Nazis finally give up the struggle, Hitler is likely to find every hand raised against him. The spell he has cast over millions of Germans is sure to snap. Even his closest associates, his military commanders and his party "old fighters" probably will turn on him as the man who led them to ruin and doom.

What Hitler will do when the end comes is arousing cold, pitiless speculation all over the world. In Germany there is already a half-morbid, half-jocular interest in his future. One recently captured German soldier wise-cracked that Hitler, after Germany's defeat, would take a plane, fly over the ocean and never be seen again.

Some believe he may seek refuge in a neutral country. The Allies

Bridgehead Battle In Remagen Area Moves Successfully

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially For U. S. S.)

NEW YORK, March 16.—The battle for expansion of Gen. Hodges' First Army bridgehead at Remagen continues successfully.

As of Thursday, Allied reports said, the bridgehead now had a depth of six miles. Against that, the Nazis said the super-highway east of the bridgehead had been crossed by American troops. If that is true, the bridgehead would be at least seven miles deep in some places. Allied reports merely said the highway was under American artillery fire.

A highly significant German statement came from Nazi commentators who said that, in spite of the First Army's advances in the Remagen bridgehead, Allied commanders were massing their troops at the northern end of the western battle line for a major assault against Berlin across the plains of Hannover. The writer has been constantly of the opinion that the final major breakthrough of the western front will come at the northern end of the western front.

Will Turn North
It is probable that, as soon as practicable, the drive against the Germans from the Remagen bridgehead will be turned north along the east bank of the Rhine.

There is a narrow, level shelf on the east side of the river as far north as the mountains extend. That shelf is controlled its entire length by high hills which are immediately to the east of it. Those

Allied Bombers Continuing To Blast Germany

LONDON, March 16.—(INS)—Allied bombers swept over Germany for the 32nd day in succession to continue their mighty air assault against the Reich in a two-pronged attack from British and Italian bases, the German radio revealed in a series of radio warnings.

One Nazi warning said that enemy bomber formations were approaching Austria while a second said that enemy units were flying toward southwestern Germany.

The formations over Corinthia and Styria in Austria evidently are allied bombers from Italian bases which previously have been blasting the southern strongholds of dwindling Hitler Europe.

The Nazi-reported raids of today followed the 24th consecutive night attack against Berlin by Royal Air Force Mosquito bombers.

Other British heavy bombers struck blows at the Hagen oil refinery at Milsburg, three miles east of Hannover. These night blasts, in turn, followed mighty daylight attacks by allied armadas yesterday.

Confirm Report Peace Effort Is Made By Nazis

LONDON, March 16.—(INS)—Authoritative British circles today confirmed that German emissaries early this month made a "peace approach" to the Allies by way of the British legation in Stockholm.

Confirming a disclosure yesterday by the Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet, these sources said that at the beginning of March, an approach was made to a representative of the British government in Stockholm.

The German peace offer was predicated upon an insistence that the Nazi regime remain in power in Germany itself, although the Reich presumably was willing to relinquish all conquered territories.

Mass Russian Attack On Oder Bridgehead East Of Stettin Also Reported

PREPARING FOR SMASH AT BERLIN

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, March 16.—Red army forces stormed the encircled capital cities of Koenigsberg in East Prussia and Breslau in Silesia today as Nazi sources reported a mass Soviet attack on the German Oder bridgehead east of Stettin, Berlin's Baltic Port.

The assault on Stettin, key to the entire German defensive position northeast of the Reich capital, was launched after heavy artillery preparation yesterday, according to Col. Ernst Von Hammer, Nazi DNB agency commentator.

The Baltic port and naval base covers the approaches to the great north German plain which lies between the Red army and the western Allies. The attack was apparently launched by the upper wing of Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian army.

Hits Both Ends Of Line
The smashes at Stettin and at the capital cities on both ends of a flaming 300-mile front were in direct support of Zhukov's central position before Berlin, where the German army has reported his forces holding bridgeheads on the Oder's west bank.

In East Prussia, Third White Russian army troops swept up at least 23 localities in a drive to the shore of the Frisches Haff (lagoon) five miles southwest of Koenigsberg which cut defending Wehrmacht forces in two.

Smashing forward despite spring thaws which sent ice flows swirling down the Vistula, the Second White Russian army further tightened the pocket around the German defenders of Danzig and Gdynia.

In Pomerania, meanwhile, Berlin

Ingrid Bergman And Bing Crosby Get "Oscars" For Best Performances

"GOING MY WAY" IS BEST OF 1944

By EVAN HOSKINS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, March 16.—"Going My Way," the poignantly appealing story of an old parish priest and his young, crooning successor, today received Hollywood's acclaim as the film industry's best picture of 1944.

The film, produced by Paramount, was accorded that distinction last night in ceremonies marking the presentation of the seventeenth annual awards of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

With the award went most of the Academy's top honors to key figures connected with the picture.

Best Performances
Bing Crosby, on the basis of his portrayal of the young, crooning priest, received the Academy's coveted gold statuette, or "Oscar," for the year's best performance by an actor.

Barry Fitzgerald, the old priest, won the award for the best performance by an actor in a supporting role.

Leo McCarey won the awards for both writing the story and directing the film.

MOVIE STRIKE IN FIFTH DAY

HOLLYWOOD, March 16.—(INS)—Despite heavy blows from two quarters Hollywood's jurisdictional dispute went into its fifth day today with threats from strike leaders that the motion picture producers would be forced to meet even greater demands than first set forth when more than half of the industry's 30,000 workers went on strike last Monday.

One blow came when directors of the Screen Actors guild and of the Screen Writers guild denounced the strikers and the producers alike in a prepared statement which proclaimed the single objective that "Hollywood must go back to work."

NEW YORK, March 16.—(INS)—An NBC correspondent reported today that evidence is beginning to accumulate that the Germans are beginning to retreat from the lower Moselle region to the east bank of the Rhine.

Huge convoys are fleeing ahead of the third army's drive, risking blazing headlights at night to speed their withdrawal, according to aerial reconnaissance, the broadcaster said.

SPEEDY CONSTRUCTION MEANS SPEEDY ADVANCE

One of the biggest reasons for the rapid advance into Germany is the lightning-speed construction of pontoon bridges by the U. S. engineers. From little streams to the great Rhine, the might of Yank troops depends on the bridges set up for them by the in-front-of-the- "front" engineers. Here, a rising, swift-moving river adds to the complications of building under fire on the Sure river in Germany, but the GI construction crew extends their pneumatic span and traffic rolls on in chase of the Nazis.

Yanks Make New Advances In Mindanao

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Luzon, March 16.—American liberation forces, advancing steadily despite increasing Japanese resistance, captured 16 additional Mindanao towns and today controlled 28 miles of the Zamboanga peninsula coastline.

In their advance beyond Zamboanga City and its adjacent airfields, the U. S. forces ran into electrically-controlled landmines for the first time in the entire southwest Pacific campaign.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique revealed that the 41st Division troops packed by tanks and covered by aerial armadas, captured Paganan in their northward advance. To the west, they reached San Ramon while to the east they rolled over the last approaches to Manicaban.

As the ground forces moved ahead on Mindanao, Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney's airmen poured 200 tons of explosives on Jap bivouac areas and supply dumps at Sarangani bay, southwest of Davao. Large fires and explosions were caused.

On Luzon, where the Americans were clearing out Batangas peninsula, a Japanese attempt to land at Belo, at the northern end of Batangas bay, was repulsed. A concentration of enemy barges was destroyed and enemy elements "dispersed."

Mopping Up Japs On Iwo Island

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ADVANCED PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, March 16.—Two U. S. Marine divisions methodically mopped up Jap remnants on northern Iwo today and the third Leatherneck outfit further constricted the noose of death thrown about the last pocket of organized enemy resistance near Kitano point.

With probably "less than" 4,000 American deaths reported officially in the conquest of the strategic island 750 miles southeast of Tokyo, Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' headquarters announced that the battle of annihilation was proceeding.

Indications that the American casualty list in the sanguinary battle for Iwo may include possibly 3,000 and 4,000 dead come from Vice Adm. Richmond Kelly Turner, Pacific amphibious commander who directed the attack on the island.

Scattered raids were repulsed elsewhere on the front. The Mediterranean Air Force flew 1,850 sorties.

Report 300 German Soldier Executed

PARIS, March 16.—(INS)—Three hundred German soldiers were executed recently as the aftermath of a large-scale mutiny against being sent to the western front, the Liberation Soil reported today in an undated dispatch.

The paper said the uprising began at a military entrenchment camp at Wildflecken near Frankfurt on Main, where 3,000 troops resisted efforts to force them into the front lines. SS and tank units reportedly crushed the revolt, following which the 300 were shot "as an example."

Duke Of Windsor May Get New Post

LONDON, March 16.—(INS)—Reports were current in London today that the Duke of Windsor, who resigned as governor-general and commander-in-chief of the Bahamas will be offered another and perhaps more important governorship.

The resignation of the Duke, effective April 1, which is four months before his five-year term would have expired, was believed to have been inspired by the fact that the health of the American-born Duchess, the former Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson, has been adversely affected by the island climate for some time.

Bastogne Heroes Given Citation

General Dwight Eisenhower
Awards Presidential Citation To 12,000 Airborne Troopers

By JOSEPH WILLIAMS, JR.
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ON A WORLD WAR II BATTLEFIELD, March 16.—The 101st Airborne Division—heroes of Bastogne—was the first full division in U. S. military history today to hold a Presidential Citation, awarded for "extraordinary heroism and gallantry" in defending the Belgian communications center last December.

The award was presented by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in a colorful ceremony which included a review and parade of the entire division of 12,000 men.

Great Personal Honor
"It is a great personal honor for me to present this citation," Eisenhower said. "This day marks the beginning of a new tradition in the United States Army."

"Everyone, whether on the streets at home or in the front lines, respects you. Good luck and God be with each one of you."

It was the first time the citation had been awarded a unit higher than a regiment.

Present at the ceremony during which men from Eisenhower's home state of Kansas formed a guard of honor were Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early, Film Star Marlene Dietrich and Brig. Gen. G. J. Higgins, the 101st's deputy commander.

Fifth Army Pushes Westward In Italy

ROME, March 16.—(INS)—Fifth Army troops have pushed westward toward Salerno against strong opposition after occupying Serra, east of the Revo river, Allied Mediterranean headquarters announced today.

Scattered raids were repulsed elsewhere on the front. The Mediterranean Air Force flew 1,850 sorties.

RAILWAY STATION IN OSLO BLOWN UP

LONDON, March 16.—(INS)—The Norwegian Telegraph agency reported today that the main railway station in Oslo was blown up Wednesday night in the course of the most violent wave of sabotage yet experienced.

Rail bridges, stations and rights of way were attacked in other sections of the country, the agency said.

Red Cross War Fund Goal Now In Sight Here

Total Reported At Second
Report Meeting Thursday Shows $70,924 Has Been Raised

INDUSTRIES ARE SETTING PACE

Reports submitted to General Chairman J. Lepere Matthews at the second meeting of the Red Cross war fund drive, held in a chapter house Thursday afternoon, showed a total of $70,924.02 has been reported to date. This leaves a little more than $30,000 yet to be raised in the campaign, and the amount needed is expected to be reported at the next report meeting next week.

The industries continued to set a splendid example to the other divisions, with over $25,143 reported today. Some of the other divisions are still lagging a little, but they expect to clean up their canvassing next week.

The reports were received with enthusiasm by the workers and gave them a determination to go out during the coming week and put the campaign over the top.

Thursday's Reports
The returns from yesterday's report meeting are as follows:

Tax Collections For 1944 Reach Forty-Four Billions

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(INS)—Tax collection for 1944 were estimated today to total forty-four billion dollars—almost half of all the recorded revenue collected by the federal government up to the time of Pearl Harbor.

Congressional tax experts estimated that government revenue since 1863, when records began, to July 1, 1942, totaled ninety-eight billion dollars.

In three years of wartime taxation, federal revenues totaled 100 billion dollars—an amount greater than all collections up to the outbreak of war.

Individual income taxes for 1944 are estimated to make up seventeen billion dollars of the total 44 billion raised in taxes. The balance was collected through excise taxes, high wartime corporation taxes and revenues from tariffs.

NAZI RESISTANCE IS DISORGANIZED

By LARRY NEWMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY, March 16.—Veteran troops of the Third Army's Fourth Division today broke out of its bridgehead on the Moselle river and launched a general attack against the great German Rhineland city of Coblenz.

The Fourth Division made a spectacular initial gain of more than twelve miles and began to close in on the hard-pressed Nazi defenders of the whole Saar valley.

Unofficial reports indicated that the fall of Coblenz was little more than a matter of hours.

Fourth Division In Action
Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., sent his far-famed Fourth Division into action by using the same tactics that carried these crack troops to the Rhine.

The justly named "Flaming Fourth" moved through bridgehead positions held by the Fifth and 90th Divisions and then pulled the throttle wide open, racing twelve miles to the southwest in approximately nine hours.

The movement of this division's spearheads are now cloaked in a partial blackout for security reasons, but it can be said that German resistance—as is usually the case when the Third Army gets moving—is spotty and disorganized.

Coblenz Fall Believed Near

Dispatch From Front Predicts City Will Be Captured Before Nightfall

LONDON, March 16.—(INS)—A Reuters dispatch from the front today predicted that the Nazi-held fortress of Coblenz at the confluence of the Rhine and Moselle rivers would fall to the U. S. Third Army before nightfall.

The dispatch added that Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's forces have made two Moselle crossings and have advanced a total of 15 miles, capturing 15 towns and clearing two others.

(A front dispatch from Larry Newman, International News Service correspondent with the Third Army, told of total gains up to 12 miles, which were paced by the famed fourth armored division.)

The Reuters report said that the Third Army was attacking the ancient city from the southwest and was meeting little resistance.

It isn't long since the streets were clogged with ice several inches thick, and sidewalks glared with their icy coat and the going was mighty slick. Today I notice the ice man's truck, parked on a city street, he was selling ice to refrigerate your beverages and your meat. Anachronistic it seems to me, for we paid to haul it away, now the ice man charges to bring it back, it's seventy-two today.

Defense Of Iwo Stiffest Yanks Have Encountered

By JOHN R. HENRY
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

FIFTH AMPHIBIOUS CORPS HEADQUARTERS, Iwo Jima, March 15.—(Delayed)—(Via Navy Radio)—Japanese troops on Iwo Jima who have lived this long and still are able to hold out today along the northern coast of the island can attribute their temporary good fortune to the strategy of Maj. Gen. Harry Schmidt, commanding the Marine Fifth Amphibious Corps.

The enemy remnants are alive because the marine general elected to hold back his leathernecks until the Japanese pockets have been softened thoroughly by artillery fire.

"We could dash in there now and finish them off," General Schmidt told this correspondent today. "But we're not going to do it," he added, explaining, "we would have to accept a lot more casualties in sending the marines against those remaining 'caves and pillboxes.'"

Already Defeated

Implying that the marines already have defeated the Japs militarily on this fortress island, Schmidt said:

"We'll just stand by until the artillery has blasted them thoroughly, then go in and clean up what's left." He said he is not concerned about how much time it requires to eliminate the Jap force which at the outset of this battle, he admitted, defended the Iwo bastion more staunchly than any other island yet wrested from Japan.

"We encountered a defense perhaps a little stronger than we anticipated," General Schmidt admitted.

"This really is the first place we've seen," he continued, "where the Japanese had a thoroughly organized system and executed their plans for defense."

He explained that the enemy fell back to the northern end of the island and there fought from a previously prepared final line of resistance.

The defense of Iwo Jima, he said, was far superior to the Japanese performances on Saipan and Guam, the only other islands comparable to this.

"On the atolls, Tarawa and the Marshalls, most of the Japanese defenses had been knocked out by prelanding bombardment—but when you get on larger islands or into terrain like this, the naval guns and aircraft can't eliminate everything," he declared.

have made their point of view clear, should he attempt this. If he does, it seems virtually certain he will fall into Allied hands and be brought to justice.

May Commit Suicide

Others think he may commit suicide. Many of his utterances show suicide no more alien to his nature than homicide. Suicide would save him the embarrassment of hearing the world's final condemnation.

And it would save the world the trouble and expense of putting him to death.

There also are people who believe Hitler may allow himself to be caught and brought to trial. They think he would bask insanely in this last burst of notoriety, use his trial as a sounding-board for a venomous epilogue, then strangle a little tin god to a melodramatic "martyrdom."

But realists acquainted with Hitler's life before he became fuhrer have a different idea. They believe he may try to disappear and submerge anonymously in the slums of some large city, perhaps after first trying to make the world believe he had killed himself or been killed. If he succeeded in this, it would mean a reversion to the life of his youth, a slum existence he well remembers and for which he is well fitted.

Navy Secretary Makes Reply To Anguish Letter

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(INS)—The navy released today Secretary James V. Forrestal's reply to one of many anguished letters received as the result of growing casualties lists.

In what was described as a "typical" letter from an unidentified woman the writer, addressing the secretary of navy, said:

"Please for God's sake stop sending our finest youth to be murdered on places like Iwo Jima. It is too much for boys to stand, too much for mothers and homes to take. It is driving some mothers crazy."

"Why can't objectives be accomplished some other way? It is most inhuman and awful—stop, stop."

In response, Secretary Forrestal declared briefly:

"My Dear Mrs.—"

"On December 7, 1941 the Axis confronted us with a simple choice: Fight or be overrun. There was then, and is now, no other possibility."

"Having chosen to fight, we had then, and have now, no final means of winning battles except through the valor of the marine or army soldiers who, with rifle and grenades, storm enemy positions, take them and hold them. There is no short cut or easy way. I wish there were."

hills not only dominate the shelf, but also the river. Troops at the present bridgehead, in moving northward, must clear the shelf and the background hills of German troops.

The entire Allied movement seems to have a northward trend. Both the Third and Seventh American armies are assaulting in a general northerly direction.

Could Reach Plain of Cologne

As, if and when our spearhead does move north, they will clear as much space as we may need in that area for river crossings and for large bridgeheads. But, if the First Army advance does continue northward to the vicinity of Bonn, there the mountains to the east commence to end. At Bonn or a little to the north of it. Access to the plains of Cologne is gained, and the plains of Cologne continue into the great level northern plain of Germany. In other words, if our present bridgehead can be extended north, we would gain a great access to the level country and a straight route for an attack against Berlin.

However, it is well to remember that, if possible, the main Allied bridgehead will probably be obtained at the extreme northern end of the western battle line.

BLACKOUT MASKS HUGE NEW DRIVE BY THIRD ARMY

While American troops were harassing traffic on the six-lane Cologne-Frankfurt autobahn, Berlin sources repeated their earlier admission that the road had been crossed by Yank forces.

Combined Allied dispatches and German reports indicated that Allied armies were in motion along a 250-mile front in preparation for a full-scale spring offensive against the heart of Germany from the west to be coordinated with the Soviet push westward from the Oder river.

The German radio reported that approximately 150,000 American troops already have been poured across the Rhine into the Remagen bridgehead and that the newly activated U. S. 15th Army was moving up to join the offensive east of the river.

Two-Mile Gains

Front dispatches revealed that the First Army captured five more towns inside the bridgehead in two-mile gains against strong German opposition.

The Third Army advanced southwest of Coblenz along a nine-mile front paralleling the Rhine, engulfed six more German towns and a field dispatch from Larry Newman, International News Service correspondent, said gains of up to three and one-half miles were made against only moderate opposition.

The Seventh Army moved into its new offensive without artillery preparation, which apparently caught the Nazis off balance, and rapidly carved out gains of three miles southeast of Saarbrücken against opposition, which started strong but weakened rapidly.

Infantry forces encountered stiff resistance three miles east of Saarbrücken which rapidly is becoming outflanked by the joint advances of Seventh and Third Army columns.

autobahn east of the Rhine, three American armies bored in toward the heart of the Reich today along a front hundreds of miles long.

Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' veterans east of Remagen probed ahead as much as two miles, expanding their Rhine bridgehead to 75 square miles and driving to within less than 200 yards of the six-lane superhighway. Across that road they poured a murderous fire, hamstringing Nazi efforts to move men and supplies to threatened areas.

A late dispatch from the German transoceanic agency quoted a Berlin military spokesman as reporting General Hodges' bridgehead now is teeming with tanks, plunging at German lines without respite. "Armored wedges now are storming the Cologne-Frankfurt autobahn," the spokesman said.

Smash Crumbling Defenses

Two other crack armies, the American Seventh and Third, hammered speedily through crumbling enemy defense lines as the entire front moved in toward the interior of Germany. The Seventh Army pounded the Nazis along a 69-mile front between Haguenau and positions east of Saarbrücken, advancing three miles or more, while the Third Army posed a mounting threat to the entire Saar basin.

The Third Army's Fourth Armored Division rode out of their potent bridgehead across the Moselle southwest of Coblenz and drove toward the southeast to bring their total gains up to 12 miles.

In the Remagen bridgehead, Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' Infantry and armor stretched the limits of their expanding bulge to a width of 11 and one-half miles and a depth of six and one-half miles.

They surged into the town of Hockel where they were only 200 yards from the famed six-lane Hitler autobahn between Cologne and Frankfurt-Am-Main, from which vantage the Yank infantry poised a murderous small arms into Nazi traffic.

Resistance along the 69-mile line of advance of the Seventh Army was reported as varied but the Yanks encountered difficulty with thickly sown mine fields. Other infantry columns of the Seventh gained a mile and one-half to blast their way into Habkirchen where a fierce battle is in progress today for possession of the town and adjacent forest.

Fighting Is Bitter

In the northern-central section of the Seventh's roaring front west of Bittich fighting was extremely bitter but the Yanks finally drove the last of the Nazi garrison out of Schorbach.

While Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's veteran Fourth Armored Division raced toward the southeast to close a steel nutcracker around the Nazis in the Saar basin, fresh infantry forces poured across the Moselle bridgehead six miles southwest of Coblenz.

(A Reuters dispatch from the front said that Third Army forces were attacking Coblenz from the southwest after crossing the Moselle and that the fall of the city "was expected today.")

Mrs. Beatrice Houk sang several selections. Pallbearers were James Aiken, Arthur Henson, Earl Kelley, De-Comley, Joseph and William Smith. Interment was in Slippery Rock cemetery.

Lawrence A. Fehrenbach

Lawrence A. Fehrenbach, aged 44 years, of 209 Milton street, died suddenly this morning at 1:40 o'clock.

Mr. Fehrenbach was born June 17, 1901, in this city, son of Andrew and Mary Brinkley Fehrenbach. He was a life-long resident of this city and a member of St. Joseph's church.

For the past 19 years he had been married to Katherine Irene Colt. The deceased was employed at the Rieck-McJunkin Dairy company and was route manager.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Katherine Colt Fehrenbach; a son, Pvt. James Richard Fehrenbach, Camp Gordon, Ga.; two brothers, Francis and Raymond, this city; three sisters, Mrs. L. J. Cavender of Swissvale, Mrs. Ralph Flynn of McKeesport and Dorothy, this city.

The body is at the A. Darrell Burke funeral home North Jefferson street, where friends may call Saturday evening 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock, and Sunday 2 to 4 and 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock.

High mass of requiem will be offered in St. Joseph's church Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

Interment will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

HORROR CHAMBER OF JAPS REVEALED

resulted from a tip by a Filipino who asserted that just before the Americans' arrival the Japs had aired plans for liquidation of a number of their political and military prisoners in Santiago.

The tools and technique of the Jap executioners were easily explained according to Dunkel. From a floor above, the Japs shoved two large pipes through to the dungeon and sprayed the whole room with gasoline. A torch was then hurled into the chamber and the pipes sealed up. That closed the grim episode as far as the Japs were concerned until Dunkel made his search.

"We have at least three important Filipino generals on our missing list," Dunkel declared, "and we believe they were probably among those incinerated alive by the Japs. It is still too early to tell whether or not any Americans were among those cremated in the dungeon torture chamber."

KOENIGSBERG AND BRESLAU BEING STORMED BY REDS

reported Soviet forces "have broken into the eastern part of Kolberg," Baltic seaport fortress.

Kolberg was isolated when a recent advance by Zhukov's upper wing reached the coast on both sides of the town.

(A Berlin report broadcast by the London radio and heard in New York by CBS said the town was about to fall to end, with the German garrison engaged in "very heavy defensive fighting against superior Russian forces.")

Convicted Rapists Are Electrocuted

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 16.—(INS)—Daniel F. Reedy, 19, and Joseph H. Hockenberry, 21, both of Washington, D. C., were executed early today at Kilby prison in Montgomery.

The convicted rapists were hanged for the murder of a woman, which was the result of their sexual offenses.

Motorists were reminded by the revenue department that it was illegal to drive today without a new inspection sticker. Under the legislation enacted by the general assembly this year, Secretary David W. Harris extended the inspection deadline from January 31 to March 15. A department spokesman said approximately 2,000,000 stickers were sent to the various inspection stations.

Early spring frog choruses are now being heard in the vicinity of frog ponds in the district, Pa. News is told.

Sound sleepers didn't hear lightning crack and thunder roll at 4 a. m. today but C. Ed Brown, city clerk, heard it, he reported. An old saying is recalled that the snakes come out of their hibernation after the first thunder.

No Slump After V-E Day

It is not without reason that Washington is showing some concern over the home front's possible reaction to the long-hoped-for tidings of victory in Europe—whether those tidings come soon or are still many weeks away.

The feeling in government circles—and unquestionably there is some basis for apprehension—is that V-E Day, when it arrives, may produce lethargy among our people and a let-down in war production. Since the Pacific issue presumably will still have to be settled after Nazi Germany collapses, any slump on the home front would endanger all of our men who are fighting the Japs.

There is little doubt that after organized warfare ceases in Europe there will be a tendency in this as in other countries to yield to war weariness. It will be hard to see the boys come home from cooking Hitler's hash only to depart after short furloughs to help put the finishing touches on Hirohito.

Yet it is a situation to which we should steel ourselves, in the firm conviction that unless decisive victories are won in both wars the whole tragic struggle will have to be gone through again in the not remote future.

Carrying the war to Japan's home islands will be an extremely hazardous and difficult undertaking. Judging from the resistance given our men on Iwo Jima, the campaign for Tokyo is going to be long, bitter and costly.

In addition, the Japs have four or five million soldiers on the Asiatic mainland. Whether or not we land large forces in China, the Japs in Asia will have to be beaten.

We should keep constantly before us the fact that when Hitler falls our task will not be over. We must not falter in our determination to end Japan's as well as Germany's barbarous aggression with such completeness that its resurgence will be impossible.

Gardening For Victory

This is the season of the year, when snows melt and the days lengthen and hints of springtime become ever more recurrent, that a great many men—and women—turn their thoughts to fresh-turned soil, and gardens.

Never do the reds of the tomatoes assume a deeper scarlet, nor the greens of the peas and cucumbers a fresher tint, nor the anticipation of green onions and the salt shaker a more anticipatory goodness than now. But we believe gardening is really in the atmosphere. Winter has been long and burdensome; the rows of canned fruits and vegetables have all but disappeared from the cellar shelves; and now the great moment is almost upon us.

What to do? Many gardeners have their plots already at hand, but others are seeking new worlds in which to conquer the bugs and beetles. Let them beware. No soil is quite as good as it looks in March, at the peak of gardening fervor. If it is rocky or outworn or weedy, the chores may more than offset the compensatory joys of making growing things produce food. Make sure the plot is fertile and tillable—and not too large. Better a dozen tomato plants that are a joy forever than a hundred which require back-breaking hours of work. And even the harvesting of green beans can become burdensome if the rows are long and many.

Next is a wise choice of seeds and plants. Will the produce be used? Can it be raised more cheaply than bought? Is the particular species easily raised in your vicinity? Most amateurs must be careful in their selection.

Cleaning the ground, fertilizing, liming and spading are chores which, if started now, can be done leisurely before planting time. Otherwise, well, more than one gardener's eyes have been bigger than his muscles—and will power.

The important thing is planning. The more of that done now, the easier will be the gardening task when the days become warmer, and the weeds and pests are more numerous.

But—by all means—have a Victory Garden. Food fights in this war, too.

Not Prevention But Cure

In a move described as designed to avert a home front food crisis, War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes has ordered strict coordination and control of all overseas shipments of supplies. There seems little doubt of the need for such an order.

The supply control is to be exercised by a new inter-agency committee headed by Leo T. Crowley, foreign economic and lend-lease administrator. The committee includes representatives of the State, War and Navy departments, the War Shipping Administration, the War Production Board and the War Food Administration.

The set-up was decreed following warnings by War Food Administration officials that conflicting or duplicating demands on food and other supplies for shipment to military theaters or liberated areas for relief purposes were jeopardizing home front supplies. It was disclosed that in many cases various agencies had made commitments without advance knowledge that they could be fulfilled or whether or not they duplicated others.

The new committee will have no power over military requirements, which take precedence over all others. But it will have full information of all military needs in order to keep abreast of the whole supply situation. It will have first call on all other supplies, with food and shipping its major concerns. It will proceed on orders of Director Byrnes to get domestic production in line with war and civilian needs, then channel what can reasonably be spared to foreign requirements.

Establishment of the inter-agency committee seems a simple and effective method of finding out what's on hand and preventing duplication and waste of its distribution. The surprising thing about it is not the need for the committee, but the failure to foresee the need for it a long time ago.

An acute scarcity of poultry is reported in large cities. "No chicken, no pot," seems to be the new slogan.

Shipments of hemp have started to arrive from the Philippines, but whether part of the supply will be retained for a special purpose is not revealed.

Although more than 500,000 different kinds of insects have been discovered and listed, the mosquito, common house fly and Jap still lead the list.

The Allies will be chased out of the Pacific as soon as the tide turns in the Japs' favor, according to Tokyo—which, however, fails to set even an approximate date for the oceanic upheaval.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Tells Of Scenes On Italian Front

WITH U. S. TENTH MOUNTAIN DIVISION, On Italian Front, March 16.—They were carrying a dead German down from the top of a ridge 300 yards up a steep slope. You could see men in foxholes up there. One was reading a newspaper in the bright, warm sunlight.

Four GIs put the dead German down beside three others in the basement of a house ruined by two days of shelling. They stood looking for a moment at the four enemy soldiers in dirty field gray who had been killed by our snipers during the night and morning—killed expertly with bullets through their heads or hearts.

"You've got to do three things to them," said one GI. "First you've got to kill 'em, then you have to carry 'em down, and then you have to bury 'em."

Standing there, the GIs had a brief, profane argument as to whether they really were compelled to bury the four dead Germans. It was a futile argument, because they knew from the beginning what their orders were.

Flight Of Planes
Overhead comes a flight of planes—our planes, of course, since the Germans have none on this front. We all stand and watch them swoop down into the valley behind the nearest mountain, which conceals enemy supply lines. The sound of straining comes to us.

Enemy artillery positions are just down there. In the clear light, you imagine you can see them without glasses. "They save their shells," says one of the GIs. "They don't throw anything in till they think they've got a good target."

He is Pfc. Walter Holloway of Dunlap, Iowa. He has been in the line for about two weeks. He guesses, Time doesn't mean anything after you've been in the line for a day or two, he says. Anyway, he's been there since the fighting for Mount Belvedere began.

That was the first time the U. S. Tenth Mountain Division was committed in the Italian theater. But it wasn't the best of their fighting history by any means.

Was In Aleutians
Holloway was at the Kiska landing and lived in the gray bleakness of the Aleutians for seven months. Then, with most of the rest of the division, he went to Camp Hale in Colorado for more than a year of tough training, which included maneuvers in the deep snow and sub-zero weather of the continental divide.

With his stubble of yellow beard, he has the look of so many GIs I have seen. It makes you think of very early photographs of American pioneers—the look of the men who carved out our frontier.

Well, these men have a lot in common with our pioneers. They come with the dawn of the day, the face, every hour of the day, the peril of sudden death, and their own skill and courage must save them if they are saved.

"It's the shelling that gets you down," says a second GI, Pfc. William H. Thomas, a former Texan who now calls St. Paul his home. You can see what he means. In this mountain warfare, the enemy normally has you under observation and you are conscious of moving like a clay pigeon in the range of his powerful glasses, knowing too that his 88 mm. gun has the accuracy of a rifle.

We are staring down a narrow trail. It is about the time of the Japanese when the Jerries usually shell. "Don't bunch up that way or Jerry may think you really are a good target," a GI says.

Blowing Up Mines
From down below comes the boom of an explosion. They are blowing up mines discovered in the trail. It turns out to be at a point where we pass a wrecked tank and jeep. Nearby are pools of blood caught in the deep snow and two men were hurt there a few hours before.

We are going down the trail past ammunition dumps, past Italian service troops climbing upward with mules. One of the Italians is singing and, incredibly enough, is flourishing a fancy paper fan with operatic gestures. The GIs stand beside him, grinning.

We go down past a command station, past an advance command post, down to where we left our jeeps. It is beginning to get dark and, from behind all the hills, come the red flashes of artillery.

Now we are driving along a moonlit road as fast as we can go to good beds and baths and safety. The GIs are staying behind. They will be there through the night and through the next day and the next night.

That is what you think, with a sense of awe and admiration that is mixed with something like guilt. I suppose it is why I am going back to the Western Front for another visit—to see a little more of the men who are fighting on the ground.

GROWTH
Growth always means use of material. If a house grows larger it must have building material.

If a city grows it must have more buildings and more land and more citizens.

When our bodies grow they must have building material too. Protein is the building material needed for growth.

Perhaps animal protein is better than vegetable protein. To get the necessary protein we need to eat eggs and meat and dairy products.

Even when our bodies have stopped growing, protein is needed for repair and replacement. Children need more protein than adults for use in both replacement and growth.

The World and the Mud Puddles

SOIL BLOOM DENOUNCES
It is interesting to observe a prominent New Dealer Representative Soil Bloom of New York rising to denounce a Gallup poll indicating that Abraham Lincoln is a more popular figure among the American people than George Washington. Whether the poll was in good taste or not may be a matter of opinion. But the spectacle of a New Dealer as a champion of the Father of His Country is somewhat anomalous.

Washington, for one thing, rejected the suggestion of a Third Term and warned against a tenure of more than eight years in the Presidency.

He was a firm believer in the Constitution, upheld it conscientiously and never sneered at it or advocated its violation as a matter of political or personal expediency.

He believed that the first duty of Americans was to America.

He believed in a republican, representative form of government, as opposed to collectivism and paternalism.

He believed in the sovereignty of citizenship as opposed to regimentation.

He did not presume to repeal the law of cause and effect, the law of supply and demand or the law of nature.

In fact, his credit was so far removed from that of the New Dealer that his championship by a New Dealer spokesman seems not only absurd, but presumptuous.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

INDUCE CALMNESS IN NERVOUS CHILD

Fare to face, and by letter, elementary school teachers in different parts of the United States have been telling me that school children have grown more jittery and inattentive since Pearl Harbor. One teacher in this way: "In our schools we find so much more inattention in all classes and grades."

Usually the teacher measures inattentiveness in terms of how much the youngsters fidget and talk while she is talking to them as a group. Unfortunately a few teachers indoctrinated with the philosophy of excessive self-expression, suppose that children should talk when they feel like it. But I doubt whether any teacher feels most comfortable and effective when many of her children are talking aloud while she is presenting some instruction meant for all of them.

Inattentiveness in Classrooms
Fortunately, most teachers try to train children to keep still and listen when they should, though they find it no easy task, especially in these days. Naturally the more jittery the children the less likely they are to calm down and be quiet at any time. Jitteriness is a big contributor to inattentiveness, the very opposite of attentiveness and concentration.

Many parents write of the tot who won't sit still long enough to listen to a story being read to him. This same child at home may not be still long enough to hear a suggestion, request or command. Rushing from one thing to another, this nervous child does not stick long to any one activity or concentrate continuously on any one object of interest. Sometimes the very bright child is scatter-brained for want of practice in ways of being calm. It works both ways. The child who fidgets much does not concentrate so well, and failing to concentrate, he fidgets more.

Calm Child
In the home we can help calm the excitable child by reading to him and helping him gain skills at creative and constructive play. Also we can prepare him for this by providing a calm family atmosphere for him and by training him effectively in some routines.

So also in the classroom, needs to be a very calm and poised teacher who speaks in well-modulated tones, who understands children and makes them feel emotionally secure, feel at ease when they recite, feel they are being treated as persons. This teacher needs to know how to hold her children to desirable control, so as to be quiet when they should be, especially when a classmate is speaking or the teacher is speaking to the group. Jittery children who have learned to conform to certain regulations for the welfare of their group may get relief from tensions if the program is varied when, for example, individuals or smaller groups are engaged in work of absorbing interest. The wise teacher sensing a wide prevalence of restlessness in young children will pause now and then to have them march about the room, go through set-back exercises or sing a song or two together. She will be able to get them quieted down promptly afterwards, we hope. Most of all she will avoid speed-tests and practices against the watch as she would avoid poison.

Meat Famine Seen
Don't be surprised if civilian meat shortages reach "famine" proportions by mid-summer.

This is the gloomy picture painted by War Food Administration officials. WFA underscored its dire predictions by increasing from 50 to 70 per cent all utility beef set aside for the armed forces.

The collapse of Germany may possibly change the picture, but from the way it looks now a juicy steak will really be a scarcity this summer.

It now develops that neighborhood bars, tap-rooms and saloons were one of the chief objectives in War Mobilization James F. Byrnes' midnight curfew order on amusement places.

Behind the Byrnes' "request" was his frank concern over absenteeism in war plants. This same reason prompted issuance of the ban on all racing.

Despite its widely publicized effect on metropolitan night clubs, the order is hitting the bars just around the corner with a greater impact than the Stock club.

Oratory of Senator Harlan J. Bushfield (R) of South Dakota does not measure up to the attractions of Screen Chameleon Lana Turner in the opinion of the senator's colleagues.

This was evidenced when Lana lunched at the capital with Vice President Harry S. Truman, Adm. William F. Halsey and a group of senators who declined to tear themselves away from the luncheon party to hear a speech by Bushfield on foreign policy.

BROTHERS
I hold, because I think it true. In spite of all the wrong they do. And love of pleasure. That whether men be poor or rich.

One scarce can tell just which is which. By spirit-measure. Put us away, and foolish pride. Most men are much alike, inside.

From beach or desk or lathe away. Most men with children like to play. Their own and neighbors. Most men would have them nobly trained.

With one, perhaps, for church or drama. The man who labors. Has dreams, if but the truth were known. As high as those the richest own.

Are saddened by another's grief. And wish to share. But one, like Simon, comes to aid. And begs to bear it.

Congressional "No" On Government Auctions
Civilian Shoe Quality May Be Lowered Soon
Curfew Hits Neighborhood Bars The Hardest

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Capitol Hill is expected to turn thumbs down on government auctions as a means of disposing of the huge surplus property which will be liquidated after the war. The surplus will include everything from soup to battleships, and it is estimated that the vast stocks of goods will be worth up to 200 billion dollars.

A Senate committee has been looking into the auction method of selling some of the materials which already have been declared surplus, and, according to members, the committee does not like what it has found.

Star witness at the hearings was Jacob Goldberger of New York, who said he was the "best auctioneer in the country." Senator James D. Mead (D) of New York, committee chairman, expressed amazement at what he said looked like "irregularities," and what Goldberger said was "customary" at auctions.

Prices Controlled
The irregularities which Mead protested included a practice of professional auction buyers of "rigging the show" and controlling the price.

Consequently, the committee is expected to recommend against general use of auctions although it probably will endorse letting farm machinery go on sale in that manner, in view of the success of some farm auctions.

The committee also is expected to demand that a central clearing house be established so that one branch of the government will not be selling as surplus the same materials which another branch is frantically seeking to purchase.

WPA sources freely predict that the quality of civilian shoes will get worse before it improves. Reason: a growing leather shortage coupled with tremendous demands for footwear from the armed forces.

Nearly all top-grade leather has already been taken by the military for heavy boots, shoes and other items. Current stocks of civilian shoes have lower-grade leather soles and uppers than in pre-war days and this decline is due to become progressively worse.

Meat Famine Seen
Don't be surprised if civilian meat shortages reach "famine" proportions by mid-summer.

Find Wandering Boy
After Long Search

Donald Benson, three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Benson, of Moravia-Mt. Jackson road, was found Thursday evening between 6 and 7 o'clock, after wandering about three miles from home, accompanied by his dog.

It is said the boy and dog left at 10 in the morning to go to the child's father, out in a field near by on the farm. When the father came home at dinner time without the boy, of course the latter was missed.

Soon folks in the community gathered to assist the parents in the search, and Mr. Jackson High school students were let out to assist. State police also searched for the boy. A member of a family on the old Porter farm informed the searchers the boy and dog were seen passing that place at 11 in the morning giving some clue of the direction for search.

The boy was found by his uncle, Guy Fullerton, sitting on a bank with the dog by his side, and of course there was much rejoicing with the parents over the finding of Donald.

Penna BO's Plan For Lodge Anniversary

Members of the Penna BO lodge gathered on Wednesday afternoon in the Y.W.C.A. for their regular meeting.

Arrangements were made for a social period to be given following the regular business session on Wednesday, March 22. The committee in charge will be Mrs. Della McCort, Mrs. Maud McBride, Mrs. Estelle Layton.

Plans were also decided upon to have the anniversary party of the lodge in the lodge parlors on Wednesday, April 10. The occasion will take the form of a three-course dinner.

During the meeting the newly elected officers were initiated.

PRESENT AWARDS
TO SCOUT MEMBERS

At Mahoning school members of Boys Scouts Troop V-4, gathered on Thursday evening.

Don Spears was in charge of the opening exercises. Instructions were given for the paper salvage drive on Saturday, March 24. The homes of Seventh ward residents will be visited to remind them of the campaign. Six members passed their tests. Marching and dodge ball were the diversions of the evening. The troop gave a warm welcome back to scout Bert Calvert, after his severe injury in an auto accident about five months ago.

During the closing ceremony Harold Farris and Dick McClurg were presented with Merit badges, and John Lalama given the Second Class award. Wendell McClurg of the scout committee made the presentation.

CRUSADERS MEET TONIGHT
Mrs. Earl Turk of West Clayton street, will entertain members of the Crusaders Bible class of the Madison Avenue Christian church, this evening.

MAHGI'S MEET WITH
MRS. ROBT. PEARSALL

On Thursday evening members of the Mahgi club were entertained at the home of Mrs. Robert Pearsall, 616 North Cedar street, with a good attendance. Chat and reminiscing were the evening's diversions. Mrs. Rita Wilk, recently returned from Texas, was present. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Gladys Hackett, and aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor.

The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. Ruth Carpenter, West Cherry street.

NAVYMAN SON PROMOTED
Mrs. and Mrs. William A. Moss of West Clayton street, have been advised by their son, Kenneth Moss, that he has been promoted to radioman 3-c. Kenneth is located somewhere in the South Pacific.

1936 FIFTH MEMBER BIRTHDAY HONOREE FOR MRS. J. WIMER

Successfully planned, was the birthday surprise by 1936 F. F. club members, honoring one of their number, Mrs. Thomas Covert, 1017 Maryland avenue, when they invaded her home on Thursday evening.

Almost completely overwhelmed when the ladies appeared on the scene, Mrs. Covert was again surprised when presented with birthday tokens.

Games were in progress later, prizes going to Mrs. James Clare, Mrs. Frank Boya, Mrs. Walter Schweikert and Mrs. Leonard Thomas. The door trophy fell to Mrs. Rose Alexander.

A tasty luncheonette prepared by the guests, was served at a late hour. Mrs. David Yoho, R. D. 5, invited members to her home, March 29.

CENTRAL CHOIR PLANS APRIL TUREEN DINNER

Members of the choir of the Central Christian church met in the church parlors Thursday evening for their regular monthly meeting.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Amy Cooper, president.

Following rehearsal, delicious refreshments were served by the host and hostess, Dave Lewis, the director, and Mrs. Cooper, assisted by Mrs. Clarence Frye and Mrs. George Tribby.

Next regular social meeting will be in the church parlors evening of April 19. This occasion will take the form of a tureen dinner for choir members and their families.

COUNCIL JEWISH WOMEN WILL MEET

New Castle Section, National Council of Jewish Women, will have an important meeting on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, in the home of Mrs. Jack Gerson, 224 Winter avenue.

The book "Time For Decision" will be reviewed by Mrs. Alex Samuels as the program highlight.

D.O.F. Club

Mrs. Hilda Camuse of South Jefferson street received the D.O.F. club Thursday evening in her home.

After business, cards were played, high score prizes going to Mrs. Rose Regna and Mrs. Virginia Beach. The club token was won by Mrs. Rose Regna.

An anniversary gift was received by Mrs. Blanche Pearl from her silent sister, The birthday of Mrs. Anna Litvinovich was honored.

Special guests were: Mrs. Josephine Kneram, Mrs. Virginia Beach, Phyllis Regna and Tina Pappas.

Assisting the hostess in serving were Mrs. Josephine Kneram and Phyllis Regna.

March 20 is the meeting with Mrs. Mary Pacelli of 1008 Agnew street.

Miriello-Mundziak

Mrs. Pete Cenname, 742 Paul street, announces the marriage of her daughter, Laura Marie Miriello, to Pfc. Joseph Stanley Mundziak, son of Mrs. Helen Mundziak, 1022 Court street.

The ceremony was solemnized March 5, at St. Anthony's church, Wilmington, Del., with Rev. Fr. John T. Lynch officiating.

Pfc. Mundziak recently returned from overseas duty and is stationed at Ft. DuPont, Del.

Prior to entering the service, he had been employed as inspector at the Johnson Bronze company. Mrs. Mundziak is also affiliated with Johnson Bronze.

St. Paul's Society Meets

St. Paul's Lutheran church Women's Missionary society met Thursday evening for the March meeting at the church with "Cooperation as a Way of Life" as the program topic. Mrs. Ralph Rodgers was leader.

Study book, "West of the Date Line" was reviewed by Mrs. David Brest.

April meeting will be held at the church with Mrs. Joshua Morgan as leader.

GEORGE FOSTER IS ILL IN HOSPITAL

Viking Freuchen To Speak Monday

Man Who Escaped Nazi Torture To Tell About Experiences At Executives Club Dinner

PETER FREUCHEN

One of the most colorful figures in the world today, and one of its great men, Peter Freuchen, will be the guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the New Castle Executives club in The Castleton, Monday evening.

Author, lecturer, Arctic explorer and more recently, quarry of the Gestapo, Mr. Freuchen has crammed more adventure into his life than would ordinarily be experienced by a battalion of men, and has lived to tell about it.

Before the war, he devoted his life to exploring, lecturing and civil administration work. On one of his expeditions, while resident governor of Thule, in Northern Greenland, he was forced to amputate his own foot, which had been frozen, in order to avert gangrene infection.

Once his beloved Denmark was invaded by the Nazis, he became their implacable foe, was captured twice, and escaped, the last time, when held hung over his head, by being nailed up in a packing case, marked machinery, and being exported to Sweden from whence he flew to London and thence to the United States.

Paper Collection In City, March 24

Announce Next Paper Drive
In New Castle To Benefit
Y. W. C. A. Camp
Fund

You still have better than a week to get your waster paper together for the March waste paper drive which will be held Saturday, March 24. As usual, old newspapers, magazines, wrapping paper, cardboard and books will be collected but each should be bundled separately in bundles of not more than 15 pounds each.

This month's paper drive is for the Young Women's Christian Association camp fund, a movement worthy of aid. The women of the association are endeavoring to get volunteers to aid in the campaign and just yet are short.

Adult volunteers are needed most for the Boy Scouts do a good job of getting the paper from the curbs to the trucks. Adults are needed to ride the trucks to direct the route of the truck and also to keep the paper piled back in the truck.

It means taking an afternoon from your easy chair or radio concert but the help is needed badly. The paper is needed and somebody has to do the work. Men interested are asked to call J. Fred Clarke at 2756 to volunteer for service or to loan a truck for the afternoon.

Start bundling your paper now. Get it ready for Saturday morning, March 24 and on that morning put it out on the curb. Trucks will come by your house and get it, and the paper will be loaded into box cars and shipped to paper processing mills.

Start putting your paper aside now. March 24th is the day of collection and the net proceeds go to the Y. W. C. A. camp fund.

Alfred Higgins Wins Front Line Promotion

(Special To The News)
WITH THE SEVENTH ARMY IN FRANCE—Alfred G. Higgins, 25-year old infantryman from 327 South Croton avenue, New Castle, Pa., has been awarded a battlefield promotion from sergeant to second lieutenant in the 42nd "Rainbow" Division in recognition of his outstanding ability and leadership.

His wife and 18-months old son, Thomas, live at the Croton avenue address, while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Wilcox, live in Cleveland, Ohio. Lt. Higgins attended New Castle High school.

In the state of Massachusetts alone, the tidal lands between the low and the high water marks belong to that person owning the adjoining land.

S-Sgt. Albert Russo Has Bronze Star For Work With Prisoners

Staff Sgt. Albert L. Russo, a member of the military police battalion of an infantry division, has been awarded the bronze star and a citation for his conspicuously excellent performance in carrying out the evacuation of prisoners of war during the period September 1, 1944, to November 20, 1944, in France, Belgium, Holland and Germany, according to information received by his wife, Mrs. Albert Russo, 114 West Wabash avenue.

The citation states that S-Sgt. Russo "was instrumental in organizing and supervising the carrying out of this important procedure."

ALUMINUM CO. DENIES CHARGES OF MONOPOLY

PITTSBURGH, March 16.—(INS)—The government and competitors have wiped out the Aluminum Company of America's monopoly in the virgin ingot market, the company said today following a New York United States circuit court decision that ALCOA is operating in violation of the anti-trust laws.

In a statement ready for incorporation in the annual report to stockholders, Board Chairman Arthur V. Davis and President Roy A. Hunt said the accusation of monopoly was based on 1940, when ALCOA was the sole domestic producer.

They declared in part: "Since 1940, the situation has completely changed by the construction for and ownership by the government of ingot-producing plants with a capacity more than 50 per cent greater than ALCOA's. It was neither held nor intimidated by the court that the company has a monopoly under these circumstances."

"Findings of fact of the trial court were sustained which determine that the company has no monopoly of any raw material; that it has not been a party, directly or indirectly, to any cartel with any foreign producers for over 30 years; that its relationships with Aluminum Ltd., have been legal in all respects; that it has not monopolized commerce in any fabricated product; and that its profits have not been excessive."

Four Planes Crash, Two Vessels Collide Off N. Jersey Coast

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 16.—(INS)—Search continued today for the wreckage of two Navy fighter planes along the fog-shrouded New Jersey coastline where the Navy announced four planes were lost and two ships collided at sea.

The planes, each manned by a single pilot, took off from the naval air station at Atlantic City for a routine training flight late yesterday. Spotters located the wreckage of two of the planes near Tuckerton, 35 miles northeast of the station, but darkness and the heavy fog balked efforts to reach the site.

The ship collision was reported off Barnegat. One of the vessels was the freighter Hollywood, which was later taken in tow for New York.

Most Of Sledgers Killed This Winter Were Under Sixteen

HARRISBURG, March 16.—(INS)—The seriousness of sledding in "unorganized coasting areas" was emphasized today in a Revenue Department report which pointed out that 25 of the 28 sledgers killed during January and February were under 16 years of age.

The department said 16 of the victims were under 10 years of age.

Gen. Eisenhower Medal for Boy Scouts

Need for the salvaging of waste paper is being emphasized by the General Eisenhower awards to Boy Scouts for both individual and troop collections, according to an announcement from the Boy Scout office here today.

Every cub pack, scout troop or senior scout unit which collects waste paper equivalent to 1,000 pounds per boy member, will receive a genuine shell case, one which has been used on the battlefields of Europe, with a printed citation by General Eisenhower. The paper used in the containers of these shells, which are 75 mm. or larger, has been specially processed and cannot be used again.

Each scout who collects 1,000 pounds of waste paper during the two months of March and April will be awarded a waste paper campaign medal, handsomely inscribed and bearing a likeness of Eisenhower. The medals will be suspended from red and white ribbons.

During the campaign, Boy Scouts all over the country are striving for 150,000 pounds of waste paper in March and April explained Thomas Allen, Lawrence county scout executive. To interest more people in the salvage, the scouts are starting out Monday to ring doorbells and ask householders to prepare their paper for the collection on March 24. In that way they hope to get paper from one house out of every three, instead of one out of eight or nine as in previous drives.

The medals will be awarded to the star collectors at a special ceremony sometime after the end of the campaign, Mr. Allen said.

Former Resident In Manila Rescue

Scott Township Soldier Plays Big Part In Liberation Of Manila

Internees

T-Sgt. Winfield Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson of Grand Valley, Colo., and former residents of Scott township, was with the first cavalry division in Manila, attached to the famous cavalry division flying squadron that crashed through the Jap defenses around the capital city of the Philippines.

The squadron captured Santo Tomas university, thus liberating more than 3,700 allied civilian internees. The squadron was commanded by Lt. Col. Haskett L. Conner, Jr., a West Pointer, who lives in El Paso, Tex. He raced some 100 miles in 66 hours to be the first unit to enter Manila. This is a military feat unequalled so far in the Pacific war.

Winfield's aunt and uncle are Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nelson of R. D. 5, this city. Their son is Pvt. Edgar Nelson, who is serving with the 28th tank division in Luxembourg.

Heavy smokers are six times as likely to have bronchial complications following abdominal operations as are non-smokers, according to a British medical report.

Socialists of St. Joseph's church, will receive holy communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass Sunday morning, for the intention of their fathers. Afterwards they will join the Women's Ecclesial club for a communion breakfast in the club rooms, South Jefferson and South streets. March 20, is the next Socially meeting.

Warden Foils Any Airborne Attempt To Free Inmates

JOLIET, Ill., March 16.—(INS)—One must keep abreast of the times. That was the explanation today of Warden Joseph E. Ragen of the Stateville prison for the six heavy guy wires that have been strung at strategic locations out in the yards.

These, the warden said, were for the purpose of tangling up an airplane if it should try to land for the purpose of liberating any of the convicts.

Looking to the future, Ragen was a little worried about helicopters if one should get in the hands of a gangster who wanted to do a pal favor by "springing" him from prison by air.

"Maybe we'll have to install some anti-aircraft artillery," said the warden.

Army Half-Tracks Are Being Reconditioned Here

For weeks you have been seeing funny looking army vehicles on the streets of the city. They look like a small bus on a caterpillar tractor. Essentially that's what they are but known in army parlance as half-tracks. Nearly 2000 of them have been reconditioned in the plant of the Chevrolet-Keystone Company on West Washington street and as they are turned out of the local plant they go on to another for paint jobs, body repairs and the like.

The half-tracks fool you. Not so large as they appear, they still weigh nine tons. The reason is that the entire vehicle is armor plated, and one type M-5 carries a machine gun inside while the M-9 carries a machine gun in the turret.

Reconditioning the half-tracks is giving employment to 150 men and women, with most of the 150 men. The starters, distributors and generators are taken out and made like new and the motors taken down and given a thorough overhaul. Women have been trained to repair the generators, distributors and starters and are doing a good job of it. The motor is a heavy affair, weighing about a ton, and is nothing at all like the motor in your jalopy.

The half-tracks carry 12 soldiers and on the front seat is a driver, radio man and officer. If they run into enemy fire, steel shutters with gun slots in them are dropped over the windshield. Rough affairs the half-tracks but efficient.

In the basement of the plant is still another war job going on, that of finishing armor plate. Thick steel plates that will some day armor a tank are sent in after being flame cut and are finished. Holes are bored in, sides are beveled, and the plate is turned out from the shapers. Players and drill presses ready to be made into an overcoat for a tank.

Lt. Louis A. Costa Awarded Air Medal

Lt. Louis A. Costa, 411 Norwood avenue, pilot of a combat cargo group which operates in the India-Burma theater has been decorated with the Air Medal for his service with the Allied Eastern Air command.

His citation reads in part: "For meritorious achievement during more than 25 combat missions, all highly successful though flown through hazardous weather and over extremely rough terrain."

Two Bodies, And One Near-Suicide Taken From Rivers In Area

PITTSBURGH, March 16.—(INS)—Rivermen today were pondering over the mysteries of Western Pennsylvania's rivers after two bodies were found floating yesterday in the Monongahela and Ohio rivers while another man reportedly attempted suicide in the Allegheny.

Police reported that the body of a man tentatively identified as Giuseppe Campano, 65, Braddock, was found near Lock No. 1. Identity was based upon a note saying he had been a crossing watchman for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and $120 found in the man's clothing.

The Beaver county coroner reported that the body of an unidentified man was taken from the Ohio river near the St. Joseph's Lead company plant outside of Beaver.

Fred Gergerich, 26, of Pittsburgh, was rescued from the Allegheny river near the point after he had leaped from the bridge in what police said was an apparent attempt at suicide. He was taken to the Allegheny General hospital suffering from shock and exposure.

Ellwood Sergeant, Men Make Hit With Front-Line Shows

Sgt. Ernest Reese And 'Yankee Doodlers' Entertain Over Million Men At Front

(Special To The News)

HEADQUARTERS, XIX TACTICAL AIR COMMAND, France.—Leaving a history of exciting escapades and laughs behind them, all the way from the Normandy beach-heads across France, into Belgium and Holland, the "Yankee Doodlers" show of the Ninth Air Force's XIX Tactical Air Command is now entertaining frontline units in Luxembourg.

Bass violin player, exacting first sergeant, truck driver and all-around man of the outfit is Sgt. E. P. Reese, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Reese, Davidson avenue, Ellwood City. He and his men, who have given more than 550 front line shows, were all entertainers before entering the service and now feature monologues, impersonations, banjo specialty acts, marionette shows, and a hot swing band.

Over a million Allied troops on the Continent have laughed at the "Yankee Doodlers" who joined Maj. General O. P. Weyland's Air Command as the Allied armies began a break out of Normandy last July. On August 1, 1944, when the XIX TAC and the U. S. Third Army started their furious dash across France after the breakthrough at Avranches, the men began their front line tours.

Since then the unit has always been on the road, building their own transportation from war-wrecked vehicles and begging, borrowing and scrounging for most of their necessary equipment. Their proximity to the combat areas has produced many exciting experiences for Sgt. Reese and his fellow artists, but all agree that their biggest thrill comes when they have a responsive bunch of combat soldiers roaring at their antics.

Their escapades have been many. They went through a siege in northern Belgium, once drove 18 miles through an area still held by German paratroopers without detection, and have been stranded for days at a time because of the swift-moving tides of war.

Mrs. C. Schuler Called By Death

Mrs. Rose Bellas of Ellwood City has been informed of the death on Wednesday of her mother Mrs. Emma L. Schuler, aged 81 years, at her home in Beaver Falls.

Mrs. Schuler, widow of Christian Schuler, was a member of the First Christian church, Beaver Falls. In addition to Mrs. Bellas, survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Fred Miller and Mrs. Florence Martin, both of Beaver Falls, and Mrs. E. H. Pickens, New Brighton; three sons, George and William Schuler, Beaver Falls, and Herman C. Schuler, New Brighton; a sister, Mrs. Carrie Sloan, Beaver Falls; 11 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The model for Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa" is said to have been Isabella d'Este, the marchioness of Mantua.

Receive Word From Missionary Freed In Philippines

Mrs. Eugene Foley of R. D. 5, received a letter Wednesday from her aunt, Miss Olive Rohrbaugh, who has been a prisoner of war since 1942, in the Philippines, recently released as a result of the successful invasion of that territory by our armed forces. The letter was dated March 3.

The letter in part reads "The Israelites who crossed the Red Sea had nothing on our crossing of the Los Banos lake on amphibious trucks, and that was just a small part of the deliverance too. I can never live long enough to tell about the loyalty of our Philippine people, nor of the Hogenboon's care for me. I don't see how I could come through otherwise; as it is, I am remarkably well, though very thin like everybody else, and how I long to tell the story of His care. Great life! and none of us weakened. All I need now is some hot slaw, mashed potatoes, ham, and cherry pie to make me fit for work." Miss Rohrbaugh is a Presbyterian missionary and has been in the Philippines for over thirty years. She is the only living sister of Rev. C. M. Rohrbaugh, former pastor of Rich Hill and Volant Presbyterian churches. Rev. Rohrbaugh who lives at the Penny Farm, Florida, has been in failing health after a general physical breakdown. Miss Rohrbaugh is well known here having made addresses in churches during her furlough from the Philippines.

Defense Council Urges Examination Of War Souvenirs

Ralph Cooper Hutchinson, executive director of the State Council Defense of Harrisburg, and Ralph M. Mitchell, bomb reconnaissance officers of Harrisburg, stated today that many dangerous souvenirs have been sent home, from boys in the armed forces now at the fighting fronts.

Many of these souvenirs are live ammunition and cleverly contrived booby traps. Although great care has been exercised by military and naval officers at the front and by postal authorities, to examine the packages before they are sent, many of the dangerous souvenirs have arrived and have caused casualties.

These casualties are unnecessary, and the main purpose of the civilian defense, is to prevent them.

Anyone receiving such souvenirs should have them inspected by qualified experts.

The souvenirs include live ammunition of any kind; brass shell cases from which the primer at base has been removed and hand grenades of any type.

Any person who receives any such souvenirs as listed above or any other suspicious article should submit them at once for an examination by qualified examiners, by the state police or any person in the civilian defense corps.

Pfc. Roy E. Cooper Is Wounded In Germany

Word Received By Mother From War Department: Wounded Brother Home On Leave

Pfc. Roy E. Cooper, son of Mrs. Nora Cooper, of 207 S. Mulberry street, was slightly wounded in action in Germany, on February 12, according to word recently received by his mother.

Pfc. Cooper was serving with an anti-aircraft unit. He entered the service in April, 1942, and had been overseas since the first of this year.

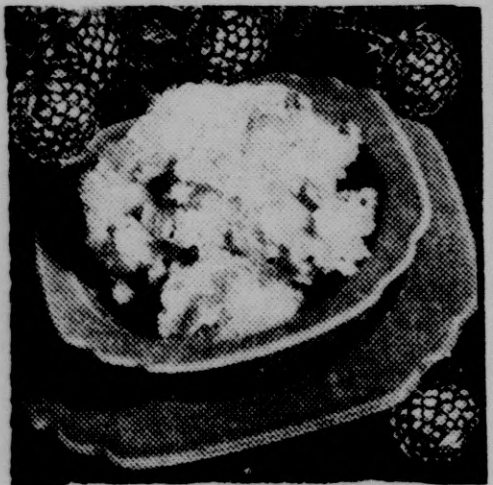

Another brother, Pvt. Louis Cooper, who had been overseas for two years, and who was twice wounded in North Africa, is now home on a 15-day convalescent furlough from Fort Slocum, N. Y., where he has been undergoing treatment. He was last wounded in April, 1944. He served with the 39th Infantry of the 9th Division.

RECRUIT FOREST FIRE FIGHTERS IN PENNSYLVANIA

HARRISBURG, March 16—(INS)—Prompted by the first forest fire of the season, the department of forests and waters today reported officials were recruiting several hundred volunteers to replace fire fighters inducted into the armed forces.

Chief Forest Fire Warden George H. Wirt said recruits, mostly high school students, would fill the gaps in the 30,000-member force. The first fire of the season was reported in Powells Valley, 10 miles north of Harrisburg, he added.

Wirt attributed most spring blazes to careless burning of brush in wooded areas and warned gardeners to keep fires 200 feet from timber tracts. Nearly 20,000 acres of forest were consumed by 1400 fires last year at an estimated loss of $535,000, Wirt disclosed.

Higher Postwar Living Costs Seen By Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright—1945—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.

BABSON PARK, Mass., March 16.—It may cost you 20 per cent more to live after the war than it did before Hitler blew off in 1939. In other words, your 1939 dollar may then probably be only 80 cents. Since your pay envelope will probably be thinner than it is now, this is something to worry about!

Here is what the bespectacled professor means when he warns you that the cost-of-living is going to "zoom!" He means that your grocery bill will be bigger than before the war, even though you buy the same amount of food. He means that you will pay $37.50 for an overcoat when you used to pay $30. Your fuel, laundry and ice bills are going to edge higher. That 5 cent candy bar will shrink in size or swell in price to 6 or 7 cents. The landlord, the furniture dealer, the ticket seller—they will all "put the bite" on your weekly pay envelope for a bigger chew than before Hitler.

After World War I the cost-of-living reached a peak which was more than 15 per cent above our present "abnormally" high levels. That established the all-time record for this country. Since there were then none of the controls which the present government has imposed, cost of the average market basket increased about 130 per cent to its 1929 top. Housewives who were buying food at that time (butter at $1 a pound, sugar at 25c) are not so afraid of postwar prospects as our younger people who have become used to depression prices.

Learning To Economize
As a matter of fact, living costs are at present averaging close to those of 1925-1926, and are only 2 or 3 per cent above 1929. This is high enough to give you consumers plenty of headaches. Today is none too soon to start the wise practice of getting the most for your money. After the war, when prices are still high and total take-home pay is considerably lower, you will benefit from this experience. Selective shopping may then be the only way to maintain living standards for the average family.

For a long time I have preached the doctrine of "bargain" shopping. When the Japs are knocked out this is going to be more important than ever. Right now there isn't much choice of brands on grocers' shelves, but after the war it will be a different story. You should be able to keep your living costs down to a remarkable extent by buying the less widely advertised grades of canned goods, the less popular cuts of meat, day-old bread and cake, etc. They are just as nourishing and palatable as the more expensive foods.

Gauging the Future

Here is my forecast of the pattern of living costs over the years ahead. There is not likely to be any great change until the European conflict is ended. Not long after that happy event, the outlook for some deflationary pressure on the cost-of-living. Unemployment and the shifting of full war focus to the Pacific area is bound to curtail public demand for goods.

Reconversion will begin to take hold shortly thereafter. Combined with the still-high Jap-war production, civilian output will begin to take up the slack in employment and ease the buying reluctance of the public. By the time the Nipponese yell "Uncle!" (or their equivalent for it), the cost-of-living should be moving gradually upward again.

Danger Of Inflation Panic
From then on, the picture depends partly upon whether or not price curbs are maintained. If the controls are thrown out by a Congress weary of wartime restraints, get ready for a real "inflation panic". If curbs are approved, there will still be pressure on the upside, but it will be reasonable. From my studies, both political and economical, I have come to the conclusion that the living cost run-away of 1920 will not be repeated after this war.

Rather, some system of price controls may go on for several years. I have spoken out in favor of this procedure before. I repeat at this time that without the OPA or some such agency, we would now be a lot worse off. And we are, in my humble judgment, going to see a continued centralized control of prices from the nation's capital. However, such will not succeed in preventing inflation, but will only postpone and soften its evil effects. We will adopt the method of "cutting the dog's tail off an inch at a time."

RAILROAD MUST RAZE BRIDGE AT EAST ROCHESTER

HARRISBURG, March 16.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania railroad was ordered today by the Public Utility Commission to remove the pedestrian bridge across its tracks at East Rochester by March 31. The commission said the bridge located 300 feet north of Stewart avenue, was so weakened by corrosion and deterioration that "collapse of the structure may occur at any time."

WORLD'S BITTER TONIC

A LAXATIVE, STOMACHIC AND BITTERS

Note: Improvement in name of product to World's "Bitter" Tonic. A CHANGE in the NAME but FORMULA is the SAME

As a BITTER TONIC LAXATIVE
Helps Stimulate Appetite For Temporary Constipation

As a STOMACHIC
Relieves gas bloating from improperly digested food due to constipation.

If the movement of food waste through the intestinal tract or bowel is sluggish, clogged or delayed, it may bring on temporary constipation. And this may be a contributing cause of symptoms or conditions such as: sour stomach, bloating after meals from gas, and a jaded or poor appetite. For over a quarter of a century, thousands of delighted users have praised the laxative aid of World's Bitter Tonic. BUY and TRY A BOTTLE.

First Steel Web Bridge Deck Here Reveals Worth

Steel web decks for bridges in this county are rather new, there being only one such bridge in the county, the Cherry Street bridge. Hence the experience of the county commissioners with steel web decks is confined to the one bridge but about the one they speak enthusiastically. Commissioner Karl T. Rohrer who is in charge of bridges says that in his estimation, the steel web deck is the answer to the motorists' prayer. "Snow and ice and rain, go through the open spaces" said he and the bridge is always in good shape for cars and trucks.

"Even when we get those freak storms when rain freezes as it falls, the steel web is still safer than other forms of bridge decks. While ice forms on the steel grids, the holes in the grid give a car or truck a grip on the deck that keeps from skidding."

A steel web deck has been ordered for the West Washington street bridge and should be here sometime in May. When it is in place the present dangerous condition of the bridge deck will be eliminated and the commissioners feel that motorists will appreciate the improvement.

'MacArthur Special' Marks Beginning Of Luzon Train Service

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MANILA, March 16.—(INS)—The flag-bedecked "General MacArthur Special" first through train from Lingayen to Manila, pulled into the Manila station Thursday afternoon with MacArthur in the cab.

The modern, grey, electrically-driven Diesel locomotive ran through a red, white and blue ribbon across the tracks at Manila to mark the reopening of Luzon's main railway system.

In a little more than two months, United States army engineers have built dozens of bridges and laid miles of new track to restore the system. By way of comparison, after the fall of Luzon in 1942, the Japs spent fifteen months doing the same job.

MacArthur congratulated the en-

Over 45,000 Families Affected By Flood In Ohio River Valley

CINCINNATI, O., March 16.—(INS)—Joseph L. Carter, director of the central headquarters of the American Red Cross Ohio Valley flood relief operations, announced today that 45,218 families were affected by the recent flood throughout the valley.

He pointed out that while there were 19 flood attributed deaths unofficially reported, none of the fatalities were from Pennsylvania although three per cent of the total

TRUCK DRIVER FREED IN ACCIDENT DEATH

AMBRIDGE, Pa., March 16.—(INS)—John Alberti, Vanport truck driver, was completely absolved today by a coroner's jury in Ambridge, of blame in the death of Mrs. Miriam Wogan Conley, of Byersdale.

Mrs. Conley was crushed to death by a truck driven by Alberti while she was visiting relatives in Beaver Falls.

'KIDNAPPED BOY' SAFELY BACK HOME

PITTSBURGH, March 16.—(INS)—Wesley M. Paugh, 15-year-old

Allegheny township "kidnapped" boy was reported safe at home today according to Allegheny county detectives.

The boy, whose family received a message demanding $5,000 if they wanted to see him again, said he had been sent back on a bus after being held a "prisoner in a room somewhere in Pittsburgh." He claimed he had been picked up in an automobile by two young men on his way to work Wednesday.

Troops Will Know That War Is Ended Without Any Delay

Radio Will Prevent Tragic Mistake Of Armistice Day In First World War

By JEANETTE SMITS (U.S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 16.—In this war, the tragic mistake of World War I, in which it took six hours for news of the armistice to reach the front, and hundreds of men were killed and wounded still fighting, will not be repeated.

Radio will take care of that. This assurance is contained in an article by Robert K. Richards in the current issue of Broadcasting, a trade magazine, reporting that a 60,000-watt transmitter, mounted in sections of 17 army trucks, is in the vanguard of American troops driving toward Berlin.

Over this transmitter it is understood, first on-location broadcasts from the German capital will be beamed to pick-up points in America.

"It is believed," the article states, "that General Eisenhower will employ radio to announce any cessation of hostilities to our troops first, even before reporting to the War Department in Washington."

"The powerful Luxembourg station operated by Shafel and by Ables, the OWI outlet in England, can be employed for this purpose and to inform German soldiers that they should lay down their arms. There is adequate evidence that both of these transmitters are monitored constantly by the Germans. The magazine prophesied that early broadcasts from bomb-shattered Berlin would be pooled. The article continued:

"If Americans reach Berlin before the Russians, our Signal Corps will have facilities operating from the city, through relay points at Rheims and Paris, within 48 hours. Army spokesmen said in Washington."

Actual operations in the city, however, will be directed by the communications officer for that theater of war.

K. PULASKI CLUB DONATES

Chairman of the Red Cross War Fund drive for Union township, J. Arthur Turek, reported today that the Kazimir Pulaski club on Elmwood street has donated $25 to the Red Cross drive.

Paris Papers Give Much Display To Rumors Of Peace

By KINGSBURY SMITH (U.S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, March 16.—The entire Paris press gave front page display today to Germany's rumored unsuccessful bid for a separate peace in the west.

Reports from Washington, London and Stockholm included an official French press agency dispatch declaring that qualified American military circles considered it entirely possible Field Marshal Gerd Von Rundstedt had sought an armistice from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Other newspapers carried a similar dispatch from Washington adding that Von Rundstedt's armistice offer was rejected on the grounds the Allies would accept nothing short of unconditional surrender.

Commenting on the rumors, Le Populaire declared: "It is no longer a secret that well-informed French military circles see as possible and relatively near a sudden cessation of hostilities."

L'Aube added: "It appears confirmed that tentative peace overtures have been made by the Germans to the Allied commander."

Japanese Spokesman Decries Damage From Recent B-29 Raids

NEW YORK, March 16.—(INS)—Continuing the Japanese effort to paint last Saturday's B-29 attack on Tokyo as nothing but an attempt to "terrorize" the population of the capital, Sadao Iguchi, spokesman of the Japanese board of information, declared today that "thousands were burned to death" in the raid. "Thousands were severely injured" and "many thousands bombed out of their homes."

Iguchi's statement, following reports yesterday from Japanese sources describing the damage wrought by the American Superfortresses in their fire-bomb raid on the Japanese capital, was broadcast by the Tokyo radio in English for American consumption and recorded by the FCC.

UNCLE SAM TO HAND OUT 32,000,000 EXTRA RED POINTS

The greatest windfall of extra red points ever is going this month, and each month following, to American housewives throughout the country.

32 million extra red points, approximately, will be handed out by meat dealers to customers who turn in used fat in a great Victory drive for this essential of medicines, gunpowder, synthetic rubber, soaps, paints and a hundred other necessities on the battlefield and home front. For each pound of fat turned in, every housewife is entitled to 2 red points.

The need for used fats is still urgent. Women are urged to save every drop, every spoonful of grease possible and keep saving until final Victory over both Germany and Japan.

There was an afternoon meeting at the home of Mrs. Edith Gardner on Wednesday. The leader, Mrs. Clara Seth, presented the following program:

Song, by the circle; scripture, I Corinthians 3:16-17, Matthew 5:43-48; prayer, Mrs. B. Adams; song, "What Every Mother Should Know About Alcohol"—Mrs. Vida McNulty.

"How To Conduct a Nature Walk"—Miss Margaret Peebles.

"Alcohol and 4-P Draft"—Mrs. C. Mason.

"Practice What They Preach"—Mrs. Florence Winder.

"Alcohol and the Human Machine"—Mrs. Bertha Rodgers.

A dialogue, "A Real Serious Health Problem"—Mrs. Ethel Pollock and Mrs. Mary Burns; and impromptu speeches.

There were about 40 present. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her aides.

PLAINGROVE GRANGE

Plaingrove Grange met at the grange hall on Tuesday evening. After the opening exercises the following program was in the hands of the lecturer Mrs. Adda Offutt: melody of Irish songs, by Roberta McCommons; a discussion on "Hog Production," Donald Burns, Jr., and stunt, Miss Evelyn Maxwell.

Four members of the juvenile grange were graduated during the evening into the subordinate grange. They are Mary Cunningham, Sally Hohman, Ethel Plack, and Harry McCommons. Lunch was served by the social committee.

Mercer Executive Returns From Army Duties In Persia

MERCER, Pa., March 16—Maj. David R. Webster, West Market street, Mercer, is returning to his position in the offices of the Resnor Manufacturing company, from which he had been granted a leave of absence to enter the service two and a half years ago. He has been relieved from active duty in the army. For the past two years he had been in the Persian gulf, stationed in Iran. He returned to the states last December. His return is due to the favorable military situation at this time, and due to the decision on the part of the government to relieve anyone in key industrial positions.

While subject to call to active duty without notice at any time until six months after hostilities have ceased, the military mission for which he had originally been appointed is now completed. He will be transferred from Camp Lee, Va.

to Ft. Dix, N. J., the disbursement center. He expects to return to his home in Mercer within the next 10 days.

The most recent voyage through the Northwest Passage was made in 1944 by the patrol boat "St. Roch" of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in 86 days.

Jap Transport Planes Are Shot Down On Luzon

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

FIFTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Luzon, March 16.—Like General Douglas MacArthur three years ago, the Japanese General Tomoyuki Yamashita today is desperately striving to keep open an air evacuation program from northern Luzon airdromes to Formosa. Unlike MacArthur, however, Yamashita is not meeting with very much success in his effort to maintain a final lifeline to his homeland.

Colonel David Hutchinson, Madison, Wis., who is commander of American land-based planes on Luzon, reported tonight that the foe has lost eight transport planes shot down in the last week in addition to five others destroyed on Tuguegarao airdrome in after-dusk or pre-dawn raids—an expensive attrition rate even for a desperate Japanese high command.

Hutchinson said a combination of fighters, bombers and day Black Widow night-fighters is keeping constant vigilance over the enemy's five remaining fields on northern Luzon, and at least three of these fields are rendered unserviceable each night.

"That leaves us two airdromes to patrol," Hutchinson explains, "so we put night bombers and night fighters over the area and either pick them (the Japs) off coming in or bag them on the ground."

The American technique for discouraging Yamashita's evacuation planes includes cratering serviceable runways promptly at dusk each night. Later the Americans come in for strafing passes to discourage any eager Jap airdrome reconstruction plans.

War Bond Values To Be Maintained

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(INS)—The Senate Finance committee on Thursday approved a bill increasing the national debt to 300 billion dollars after hearing Undersecretary of the Treasury Daniel Bell declare that value of government bonds will be maintained after the war.

The time at which the government will reach the 300 billion limit, Bell said, depends wholly upon the future of the war.

He was questioned by senators on the situation in which the treasury will find itself after the war when individuals may want to cash war bonds to buy automobiles and other articles.

In reply Bell said the government would maintain the value of bonds.

Coal Wage Parley To Resume April 4

SCRANTON, Pa., March 16.—(INS)—Negotiations for a new wage pact between operators and members of John L. Lewis' powerful United Mine Workers of America will get underway at New York April 4, the union announced today at Scranton.

International officers, including Thomas Kennedy of Hazleton, secretary-treasurer, will meet with district presidents and company officials in an effort to draft an agreement to replace the one expiring April 30.

MORE TREES

Within a short time it is expected 25,000 more state evergreens will arrive here to be planted on the property formerly owned by the Lehigh Portland Cement company. In the past several years the Lawrence Conservators, headed by Judge W. Walter Braham, have had about 75,000 trees planted.

Conservation is one of Judge Braham's major hobbies. Years ago he argued that something should be done to reforest bare areas in the county, and several years ago the Conservators were organized. A good start has been made in reforesting in this county, but it should be expanded. There is enough waste land in Lawrence county to accommodate several million trees, it is estimated, and years from now they would be a valuable asset.

DIVORCES GRANTED

Twelve divorces have been granted by the Lawrence county court, five by Judge W. Walter Braham and seven by Judge John G. Lamoree. The divorces by Judge Braham follow: Burton Fisher from Daisy Fisher; Lucille Wilson from James Wilson; Margaret Norine Simpson from David W. Simpson; Winona D. Conti from Thomas J. Conti; Anna I. Fusette from Angelo Fusette.

The divorces granted by Judge

ELECTION APPOINTMENT

Judge John G. Lamoree has appointed Mary D. Harlan majority inspector in the ninth precinct of the second ward, vice Jennie E. Martin, resigned.

GI'S BEST FRIEND

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—(INS)—Pocket knives, among the GI's best friends in an emergency, are purchased at the Jersey City quarter-master depot for resale to service men and women overseas, and in addition, for other army branches for issue purposes. According to Col. George F. Spahn, QMC commanding officer, more than 2,500,000 pocket knives were purchased for resale purposes alone last year.

Girl Scouts Form Wing Scout Troop To Study Aviation

Something definitely new has been added to New Castle scouting by the formation of a troop of Wing Scouts—girls who are interested in aviation either as a future career or just because so many of their friends are in the air corps.

These girls are now in their third week of activity, and have already learned much about the identification of different sorts of planes, a few of the principles of aviation and some of the history. Mrs. Findley Wilson, flight instructor and wife of the operator of the New Castle airport, spoke to the Wing Scouts at their first meeting.

Leaders Jean Watkins and Helene Edgar are planning trips to the airport later in the spring, and believe that the girls will take up some meteorology and navigation in a not-too-technical way. Model-building will also be part of the course.

This training will mean that the career-minded scouts will be much better qualified for jobs as hostesses or aviation secretaries later on. Four of the 12 members of the troop also belong to the city's only Senior Service troop.

It has been estimated that a large American passenger liner uses nearly one pound of rope per gross ton a year, or 22,000 pounds for a 23,000 gross ton liner. Cargo ships use about one-third more for their proportionate size.

Neighborhood House Moves To New Quarters

Neighborhood House, as announced at a meeting of the Americanization society board at the Y. M. C. A., has made plans for a dedication service on Easter Sunday of its new quarters in a building at the corner of Long and Pollock avenues.

Neighborhood House has moved from the Central Christian church where it has had headquarters for the past several years to the new location. Funds for the necessary improvements in the building were contributed through Jay Ailsworth, Mrs. Goldie Koonce, and Miss Olive Lewis, who were also in charge of getting the building ready for occupancy.

Memorial Service For Elon Horchler

Tribute Will Be Paid To Memory Of Local Young Soldier At First Christian Church

Memorial services honoring Pfc. Elon A. Horchler, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Elon A. Horchler, of West State street extension, who was killed in action in France on November 28, will take place in connection with the morning service at the First Christian church.

Pfc. Horchler, aged 19 years, was serving with Gen. Patch's Seventh Army, when he met his death. He had previously seen service in Italy before going to France, having been in service over a year before being killed.

His estate expects 150,000 applications for his new children's allowances.

Cpl. R. L. McConnell Killed In Germany

Wife Receives Message Thursday Telling Of Death Of Young Local Soldier In European Fighting

Word was received from the War department Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Dorothy Dunkle McConnell of Katherine street, giving the sad news that her husband, Cpl. Ralph L. McConnell, aged 21 years, had been killed in action in Germany on March 5.

Corporal McConnell, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McConnell of New Galilee, entered the service on March 20, 1943, and had been overseas since last November, serving with a mechanized reconnaissance unit of the 88th Division. The last letter received from him was written from Holland February 19.

In addition to his wife and parents, he leaves the following brothers and sisters: Howard McConnell, M. M. 2-c, of Fort Pierce, Fla.; Mrs. Marie Tindall, R. D. 7, Mahoningtown; Alice, John, Frank, Delores and Doris McConnell, and his grandmother, Mrs. Susan H. Stimpel of New Castle.

Pfc. Henry Rzecznik Wounded In Germany

Mrs. Veronica Gorgacz Of Smithfield Street Extension Learns Son Wounded In January

Mrs. Veronica Gorgacz, of Smithfield street extension, has received word from the War Department that her son, Pfc. Henry W. Rzecznik, was wounded in Germany on January 30.

Pfc. Rzecznik entered the service in July, 1942, and went overseas last September. He has been serving with the Infantry of the 78th Division.

A brother, Pfc. Fred Rzecznik, has been a prisoner of war of the Germans since September 19, 1943, having been taken prisoner in Italy. A third brother, Sgt. Walter Rzecznik is now in France.

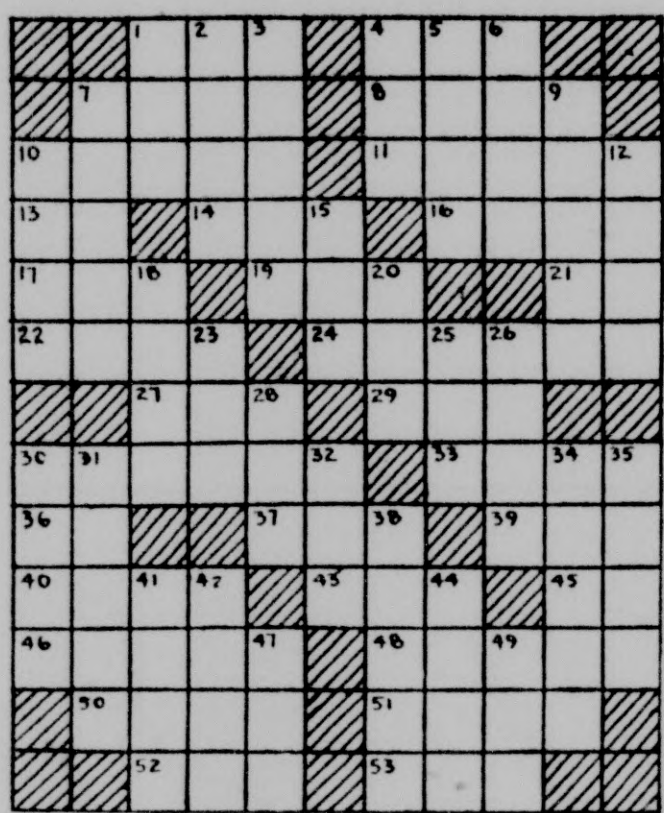

No recent word has been received from Pfc. Fred Rzecznik, his mother states, but the last word received from him, stated that he was well and getting along all right.

SPOTLIGHT Of Today

THE SAAR BASIN
(International News Service)
The Saar basin, one of Adolf Hitler's last sources of the coal and iron sinews of war, was under direct menace by the forward drive of the U. S. Seventh Army today. And this time it looked as though the Third Reich was going to lose the Saar once and for all.

As a source of iron ore, coal, ceramic, glass and chemical products, the Saar was a problem for Allied diplomats attempting to demilitarize Germany after the last war. Under the Treaty of Versailles, France was given possession of the mines and the region was put under the temporary administration of an international governing commission responsible to the League of Nations. But a plebiscite in 1935 among the overwhelmingly German population gave the territory back to the Reich and Hitler lost no time in regaining control of its militarily important industries.

Romans and Gauls used it as a base for warfare against Germanic tribes. The armies of Louis XIV and Napoleon also fought there.

With the United Nations determined to demilitarize as well as demilitarize Germany at the end of this war, it is not likely that the Saar will go back to Germany by plebiscite or otherwise.

Township Recreation Group Meets Thursday

Organization Formed To Stimulate Interest In Rural Playground Facilities

Fully agreeing on the need for recreational facilities in their communities, the close to 20 men who met in the Union township high school Thursday evening are planning to meet again on Thursday evening, April 5, to report on the progress they have been able to make. Milton Pattison, principal of the high school, stated this morning.

Those present were: from Edinburg, Joe Parks, Charles Giddings and Rev. Davis; from Pulaski, K. H. Betts and G. W. Cameron; from New Bedford, Wyle Cooper and Irwin Rope; from the Harbor, Howard Cox and Dave Curtis; from Oakland, Al Gonet and Fr. Frank Kuczyński; from Union, Michael Bowden, Ed Donley, Art Pierce, Clayton Hoffmaster, Steve Homin and Milton Pattison.

Backed up by the athletic organization of the school, these men will serve as "contact" men for their communities during the development of these recreational projects. During the social period following the business meeting, refreshments were served by the men from the Union high school district.

The April 5 meeting will be at 8 o'clock in the high school, Mr. Pattison said.

News Commercials Are Limited By NBC

NEW YORK, March 16.—The National Broadcasting company announced Thursday that all middle announcements would be eliminated from its news broadcasts, effective immediately.

President Niles Tammell said the policy is to apply to all news broadcasts originated by NBC and its owned and operated stations.

He added that it was "in line with a policy already in force, under which NBC sponsors co-operate with the company in eliminating middle commercials, or upon occasion, commercials of any kind, from news broadcasts during events of supreme interest."

Pfc. Glenn Baxter Killed In Action

Seventh Ward Infantryman Killed
In Action In Germany; Was
With Patton's Army

Word has been received by Mrs. Emma Baxter of 216 West Wabash avenue, from the War Department, at Washington, D. C., that her husband, Pfc. Glenn Baxter has been killed in action in Germany, on February 25, Pfc. Baxter was attached to the infantry corps of General Patton's Third Army.

He had been in the service almost eleven months, and overseas since December.

Besides his wife he is survived by his daughter Loretta Jean, his parents Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Baxter of Hartman street; two brothers in service Pfc. Albert Baxter, attached to U. S. Marines in South Pacific; Pfc. Reno Baxter, with the air force in England; two sisters, Mrs. Mabel Chambers and Miss Gladys Baxter, both at home.

The late Pfc. Baxter drove taxi for the Yellow Cab Company here before his induction into the armed forces.

'Russia's Position' Subject Of Address

Dr. Paul Rowland Addresses Bessemer Rotary Club Thursday Night

"Russia's position, east and west" was discussed before the Bessemer Rotary Club Thursday night when the third of a series of four lectures of the Rotary Institute of Understanding was presented by Dr. Paul Rowland. Dr. Rowland is a professor of history and English in MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Illinois and has made four trips to Russia.

Said Dr. Rowland in part "Russia in 25 years has plunged and lurched from the Middle Ages into the mid-twentieth century. From a backward primitive country Russia has become semi-industrialized. No less striking is the reversal of policy with regard to racial minorities. The Comintern has been dissolved and the policy of fomenting proletarian revolutions in other countries has definitely been superseded by a policy of building Socialism in one country."

Dr. Rowland had an interesting message and his experience in Russia added authority to his statements.

Alleged Slayer Is Being Hunted In Pittsburgh Area

PITTSBURGH, March 16.—(INS.)—The nation-wide hunt for dapper Joseph D. Medley, 43, escaped convict for the murder of Mrs. Nancy Boyer, 45, Washington divorcee, today centered in Pittsburgh.

Allegheny county detectives, Washington police, and FBI agents have been in Pittsburgh checking up on Medley's movements since first reports that he had been seen in cocktail bars and hotels on three different occasions since January.

In addition to the charge of the Boyer murder, the fugitive is also wanted by the FBI for questioning in the "bathtub" deaths of two other women, one in Chicago and the other in New Orleans.

Spring Training Program Cut By War Conditions

Big League Teams Must Cut All Unnecessary Travel, Restrict Exhibition Games

ALL-STAR GAME DEFINITELY OFF

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(INS)—Baseball training moved into high gear today with major league exhibition game schedules substantially revamped to save additional war transportation and an indication that final 1945 plans, except for manpower, are set.

President Ford Frick and Will Harridge of the National and American Leagues, who had previously pledged a 25 per cent reduction in team travel, agreed to the spring training game changes after a conference with ODT Chief J. Monroe Johnson.

Eliminate Traveling
The new arrangement permits teams to play exhibitions only on their "direct route" home, thus eliminating travel-consuming side trips, excepts clubs training in the same city or suburban area and leaves games listed for military bases unchanged.

Frick expressed belief the new restrictions would hit the hardest in team cities like Detroit, Washington and Cincinnati, but added that they would probably remain in camp longer or play more games on the road.

Neither the two baseball leaders nor Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, who attended the meeting, would estimate the number of games cancelled by the new agreement.

See Byrnes Again
Frick meanwhile, intimated that baseball would also take its chances on the possible effects of pending "work-or-jail" manpower legislation without recommending any exemptions for players.

Proceeding the 30-minute conference with Johnson, Frick was asked if the major league officials planned to meet again with War Mobilizer James P. Byrnes in the light of an unsettled congressional labor policy.

"My guess is that we won't see Mr. Byrnes again—period," Frick said emphatically.

The new travel restrictions are in addition to the 25 per cent reduction in team transportation pledged a month ago. At that time, the two officials promised to urge clubs to cut rosters to a minimum on road trips and to reexamine schedules to effect further travel savings.

The all-star game was eliminated and spring training sessions were limited to each team's camp. The new arrangement will mean drastic revisions in currently scheduled exhibitions.

Umpires Meet At 'Y' Tonight

All members of the Lawrence County Umpires Association are asked to attend the meeting tonight at 8 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the coming baseball season, and to lay plans for the annual banquet by the association.

Leo W. Hill, president of the umpires for quite a number of years, will have charge of the meeting. Any members not able to attend this evening can contact Hill at 4444 after 5 o'clock.

Touchstone Seeks Pitching Berth

40-Year-Old Rookie Hurler Will Try For Place On White Sox Staff

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 16.—(INS)—Among the 19 candidates for White Sox positions working out at the Three-Eye league park in Terre Haute was Clay Touchstone, 40-year-old rookie pitcher, who in spite of his age resents the suggestion he is a museum piece and thinks this is his opportunity to break into the Majors. He retired to conduct his cafe and tavern in Beaumont, Tex., when the Texas league folded in 1942, but explains his presence with the Sox thus:

"I suddenly got hankering to try it again and figured that manpower conditions being what they were, now would be the best time for a whirl in the Majors."

DePaul Favored In Tournament

National Intercollegiate Invitation Tourney Opens In Gardens Saturday

By PAT ROBINSON
(International News Service Writer)
NEW YORK, March 16.—DePaul university of Chicago is the favorite to win the 8th Annual National Intercollegiate Invitation Basketball Tournament which opens in Madison Square Garden, Saturday night.

On that date Bowling Green, O., tackles Rennebaker and Tennessee tangles with Rhode Island. Two days later DePaul meets West Virginia and St. John's clashes with Muhlenberg in the same arena. The final will bring the survivors together on March 26 and the eventual winner will meet the winner of the National Collegiate Tournament in a special match, the entire proceeds of which will be turned over to the Red Cross.

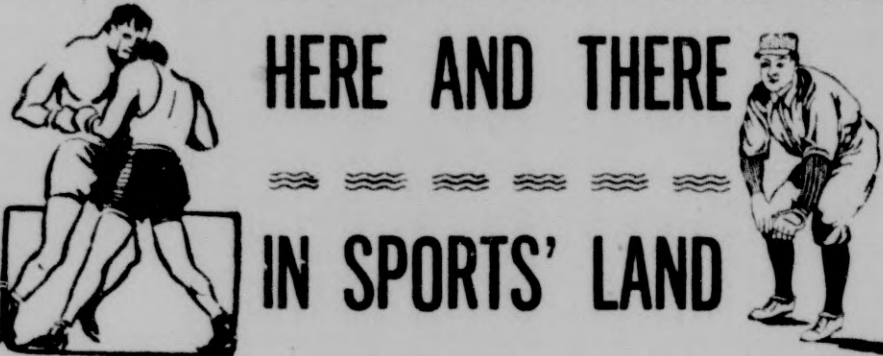

Ned Irish, acting president of the Garden, informed me today that when the curtain is rung down on the basketball season, the receipts for the season will have passed the $500,000 mark. This will break all previous marks and surely puts basketball among the leading draws in the sports world.

DePaul, Tennessee, St. John's and Bowling Green are expected to win their opening matches. Most of the college coaches who have seen them all in action, pick DePaul to beat Tennessee and St. John's to trim Bowling Green in the semi-finals and they also expect DePaul to take St. John's in the final.

Careful Of Bets
However, we do not advise anyone to bet on this schedule because it is recalled that only two years ago West Virginia was seeded No. 8 in a tournament and eventually won through to title recognition.

We are content to leave the picking to the experts. We have no more worries about these matters than Ned Irish has and his only worry at the moment is where he is going to put the thousands who will want to see the winner of the National Collegiate in a special match, the proceeds of which will go to the Red Cross.

There is one the Red Cross deserves to win and it will.

MAYOR FIORELLI LAGUARDIA of New York has disclosed that one of the five Brooklyn college athletes involved in that cage fight wasn't even a student. No student, perhaps, but the youth was familiar with the books of higher earnings. . . . Speaking of gambling and books, the bet brokers are reported to have taken such a beating on the Billy Arnold-Rocky Graziano bout that they're calling Billy by a new first name—Benedict! Billy, being flattened in a big upset, was a traitor to their cause.

St. Josephs Five Tournament Bound

Team Composed Of Former New Castle High, Westminster And House League Stars

Under the supervision of the Rev. Fr. John Unger of St. Joseph's church, a basketball team to be known as the St. Joseph's "Big Five" will take part in a number of district tournaments in the next few weeks, it was announced today by Joseph Hoyle, local sportsman who is business manager of the newly created all-stars.

The St. Joe's have in the lineup such well known stars as Bill Andrews and Fred Wimer, late of New Castle High fame, Johnny Koshlak of the Westminster college team, Binder, Houk, Panella and Caravella of the House league at the "Y" and Carey of St. Mary's. The team has games carded with the Polish Falcons, Wampum All-Stars, and will take part in the coming Salem, Ohio tourney, and the W. U. Hoyle, Junior tourney at the Sharon Bull club. The St. Joe's have won five and are undefeated to date, since organizing. The St. Joe's recently defeated the strong Shamutz and Myers team, champs of the Sharon City league in a game at Sharon 45-29. All players are under 19 years of age.

Linguist Wanted To Referee Bout

(International News Service)
DETROIT, March 16.—Michigan Boxing Commissioner John J. Hettie is seeking a linguist-referee today to officiate during the fight next Monday between Chilindrina Valencia, Mexican bantamweight champion, and Jan Barriere, Montreal featherweight.

Assigning a referee became a problem when it was discovered Valencia understands only Spanish while Barriere knows nothing but French.

Chicagoans To See Hagg Run

Swedish Star Miler Will Compete In Bankers' Mile At Chicago Stadium Relays

CHICAGO, March 16.—(INS)—Athletes gathered in Chicago today from far and near to compete in the ninth annual Chicago relays to be conducted tomorrow night at the Chicago stadium.

The famous bankers' mile will be the feature event and here to match his speed with that of American stars was Gunder Hagg, the noted Swedish runner, holder of six world records.

19 Relay Teams
Invited fields will compete in seven individual events in addition to the mile, and a list of 19 college, university and service relay teams will run a series of matching races. Hagg's competition in the mile will be furnished by Jimmy Rafferty, New York Athletic club veteran who won all six major mile tests on indoor tracks this season; Rudy Simms, former New York university freshman; Bob Hume of the University of Michigan, for two years co-champion of the Big Ten conference with his twin brother, Ross, and Ensign Tommy Quinn, former Central Conference champion from Michigan Normal.

MANCUSO IS IN
PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—General Manager Herb Pennock of the Philadelphia Phillies has announced that Gus Mancuso, 39-year-old veteran National league catcher, has signed with the Phils. Salary terms were not disclosed.

DOYAL TO ENTER TECH
ATLANTA, Mar. 16.—R. L. (Buck) Doyal, Jr., son of Coach R. L. (Shorty) Doyal of Atlanta's Boys' High, announced Tuesday that he would enter Georgia Tech this fall.

TREAT YOURSELF TO A GLEN

CAMPFIRE CORNER

Never particularly handy with tools, when a boy I used to peddle papers or in some other way earn money for the outdoor equipment I coveted rather than try to build it myself. So it came about that when I wanted a boat with which to navigate the small lakes and a connecting river near my home, and saw a bargain displayed in a farmyard for only $3 I managed to pay $1 down on the craft until I could accumulate $2 with which to complete the purchase.

14 Years Old
It was a small homemade cross between a duck boat and a kayak, with ribs set close together and covered with canvas, with canvas decks and wood cockpit. I was about 14 years old at the time. During the next three years, despite the necessity for frequent repairs, I believe I had more fun with that little craft than with any I've owned since. Its only good quality was its comparative light weight. It was a tippy, unreliable affair with shallow draft and minimum cockpit depth. I even made a sail for it and thus maneuvered it across the lakes.

The point is, I was constantly exhorting that I was to sink, upset or otherwise do me dirt, so I was always prepared for the worst and wasn't much concerned about whether I got a wetting or not. I even practiced abandoning ship with a shotgun in one hand, laying the gun on the bottom of the overturned boat and swimming to safety fully clothed while shoving the craft ahead of me.

Plenty Of Fun
Yes, I had plenty of sport with that little kayak, but I'd hardly recommend it as a model for all-purpose use, at a summer resort for instance. However, during my trips to the north woods and other places where rowboats, sailboats, canoes and duck boats are rented indiscriminately to anyone who wants to use them I'm often reminded of that first miscast specimen of mine—some of those resort boats are just about as safe and many are more cumbersome and unwieldy.

Volumes have been written about the dangers inherent in totting a gun but the few statistics available on boating accidents, many of them directly attributed to faulty boats, are usually passed over with little comment.

Difference Between Boats
There's a world of difference between boats available at different resorts. Some of the craft are well built, kept in good condition, and always clean. Others are dirty, used season after season without repainting or repair leaky and unmanagable in a high wind. If the prospective renter will pass up a craft in the latter classification this summer he'll not only avoid unnecessary risks, but will help educate resort owners into putting better, safer craft on the water.

St. Vitus Wins At Pittsburgh

Defeat St. Joseph Team Of Bloomfield, 28 To 23; Norman Conti Stars

St. Vitus basketball team, Lawrence County Catholic Youth champions, traveled to Pittsburgh Wednesday night to take part in the Deshon Soldiers benefit game, and before a crowd of around 1500 people, defeated the strong Bloomfield St. Joseph quintet 28-23, in a hard fought battle.

St. Vitus, although trailing most of the game, played like real champions to win the game in the final period. Their playing was highly praised by the sponsors and plans are being made for them to play a return engagement there.

McCarthy Is Worried
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 16.—(INS)—Manpower troubles were the main worry of Manager Joe McCarthy as the New York Yankees struggled through workouts with nine pitchers, two catchers three infielders and three outfielders. Brest by draft board and job-freeing woes. McCarthy was wondering whether and when such players as Frank Crosetti, Ernie Bonham, Nick Eiten and Hank Borowy were going to report.

Nelson And Snead Tourney Favorites

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 16.—(INS)—Ten thousand dollars in war bonds was at stake in the Charlotte open golf tournament opening today. Byron Nelson of Toledo and Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., were co-favorites to take the major prize.

Among others in the star-spangled field were Johnny Revolta, Henry Picard, Mike and Ed Turnesa, Bob Hamilton, national PGA champion, Craig Wood, Toney Penna, Willie Goggin, Claude Harmon, Sam Byrd and "Jug" McSpaden.

Pirate Rookies Take Spotlight

Vic Barnhart And Al Gionfriddo Expected To Help Pirates This Year

MUNCIE, Ind., March 16.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Pirates began spring workouts today at their Muncie, Ind., training camp with 23 players present for the first limbering-up exercises.

Accentuating preliminary kneebend drills for the Bucs were Coaches Honus Wagner and Jake Flowers who have taken charge of the team's conditioning in the absence of Manager Frankie Frisch. The Pirates mentor was reported still bed-ridden with an infected leg.

Veterans of the Pittsburgh club were especially watchful of two newcomers—Infielder Vic Barnhart, son of one-time Pirate Clyde "Pooch" Barnhart, and Outfielder Al Gionfriddo of Dysart, Pa. Both players batted well over 300 with the Albany league last year.

Three Hundred Horses
Stabled At Belmont Park,
Scene Of Horticultural Beauty

By CASWELL ADAMS
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, March 16—Ever alert and anxious to report on phases of sport dead or otherwise, I rose the other chill morning and wandered out to Belmont Park to find out how the critters are behaving, now that racing is banned. I found out some things. Not many, but some. It was too cold.

The main thing learned was that hay, the traditional feed for race horses and whence stems the classic "and that ain't hay" is now selling for $38 a ton, the highest price ever. It was a mere $42 a ton last year and this June's crop will be even higher. Labor and transportation are to blame, and some of the horsemen around the barns were saying that maybe they'd have to use their ration books and buy the horses red meat, if hay prices don't get a ceiling soon.

Hot House Blooms
Even if racing isn't restored for this coming summer, Belmont will be beautiful. Cornelius Boyle, superintendent of the huge plant, already has spring blooms in his hot houses and he will have to put them out, to make room, or lose them. He'll make the joint sparkle horticulturally, even if only grooms and swipes and exercise boys are the only ones to enjoy the flowers.

There are about 300 horses there now, about a hundred more than usual at this time of the year, and Boyle expects to be quartering 1,400 this summer. They are a bit slow in arriving because of the transportation problems, which evidently bother horses almost as much as they do ordinary human beings seeking to get from one part of the country to another strictly on business.

Snake River There
One of the horses is Snake River, a 3-year-old in Earl Sande's string, named after the town in Idaho where Sande first started to ride. Then there's Estee, which I always thought would be the Kentucky Derby winner this coming May, owned by Lt. Joseph Roebeling, and now nicely in shape by Andy Schuttlinger. And there's his stable mate, Wild Life, which Schuttlinger is high on at the moment.

Thaddeus-Stevens Tops Rose Avenue

Thaddeus-Stevens basketball team advanced to the semi-finals of the Elementary school tourney at the Rose Avenue floor Thursday, by handing the Rose Avenue team a lacing 18 to 4. Today the Thaddeus-Stevens team battles Highland at Rose Avenue court at 4 o'clock.

The winner of the game today meets Lincoln-Garfield Monday at 4 o'clock at Ben Franklin floor for the Elementary School championship of New Castle, according to Tourney Director Jimmy Dart. Bill Andrews, late of New Castle High floor fame, turned referee yesterday and did a fine job. Dart announced.

The Lincoln-Garfield team is coached by Martin Lenhart, and he has turned in a fine job. The Lenhart coached machine is confident that it will emerge as victors next Monday.

Cleveland Winner
May Battle Baksi
CLEVELAND, March 16—One of the best—if not the best—all-star boxing shows offered here in the past few years will be held at the Arena Wednesday night when a trio of "main events", featuring knock-outers, will be presented by Promoter Bob Brickman.

In the "top" 10-round affair Lee Q. Murray and Johnny Flynn, two of the stand-out active heavyweights of the day, will trade punches, and to the winner will go a bout here next month either against Joe Baksi or Tami Mauriello.

Both Murray and Flynn have turned in impressive showings in previous stands here.

GIANTS IN TRAINING
LAKEWOOD, N. J., March 16.—(INS)—Emphasis was on pitchers today as Manager Mel Ott sorted out a squad of 15 New York Giant hurlers and put them through their paces. Ewald Pyle and Harry Feldman took their first airing yesterday and appeared as best bets to flank Bill Vosselle, National League strikeout king, as Giant starters.

Nick Thiel, former Syracuse all-American, will coach the Penn State lacrosse team again this spring.

FAIR OR FOUL By LAWTON CARVER INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 16—An unimpressive array of clowns disguised as prizefighters have been passing through the Madison Square Garden ring of late, but finally this Friday night it looks as though Uncle Mike Jacobs is going to come up with a fair to middlin' battle. It involves Melo Bettina, the southern who once held the light heavyweight title, and Jimmy Bivins, the Cleveland Negro.

The fight has caused a district flare-up of interest among the kibitzers and as the two worked out yesterday in a mid town gym their antics were witnessed by the biggest such gathering to turn out in months.

Bivins Favorite

While Bivins has been established as an early 2½ to 1 favorite to take the Bacon, N. Y., soldier-sluggo, the bout shapes up as one that will provide some action and free-wheeling punching.

This will depend to considerable extent upon Bivins' attitude during Friday evening. When he wants to be a good fighter he is, but he can be extremely lethargic in the ring and unimpressive.

Bettina doesn't seem to have quite the equipment that Bivins can bring into the ring, except for a determined will to win. Physically, he and Bivins are about even in that each will scale just about 185 pounds, but Bivins has the reach, the height and probably the best of it in punching.

EVERLASTINGLY AT IT:
NEW YORK, March 16—Two long-time competitors, Welker Cochean, three-cushion billiards champion, and Willie Hoppe, the perennial champion or challenger, are again engaged in a cross-country title match. The two are playing in New York now and will visit 13 cities, including Chicago and Cleveland, on their way to the coast.

DEM BUMS WORKING
BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. J., March 16.—(INS)—The Dodgers swung into training with typical Brooklyn zest today after completing an initial two-hour workout on a firm field under warm sunshine. Leo Durocher put sixteen of his charges through their paces while word came in that Cy Bunker, a right-handed pitcher from St. Paul, has signed with the Dodgers.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 16.—Jim Bagby, Jr., Cleveland Indian right-handed pitcher, announced Tuesday that he had come to terms with the baseball club for 1945. Bagby is in 4-F and works in a bomber plant.

More Than 20,000
Rabbits Trapped

HARRISBURG, March 16.—(INS)—More than 20,000 rabbits were trapped in Pennsylvania victory gardens between December 15 and January 31, the State Game commission reported today and indicated the bag by the end of March may surpass the 33,000 cottontails caught last year and transferred to game lands.

The commission said 15,000 rabbits were trapped during January—the largest monthly catch on record. February reports have not been tabulated.

SID COE DEAD
NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 16—Sidney (Sid) Coe, 76, trainer of Yale athletes for half a century before his retirement in 1942, died recently at his home here after an illness of a year. An actor with road companies in his early youth, Coe joined the staff of the Yale Athletic association just before the turn of the century as a conditioner of football, track and crew men.

SAMPSON, N. Y., March 16—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis visited the Sampson, N. Y., naval training center hospital, where he compared his big left with that of Willard Foley, seaman first class, of Cincinnati, O. Foley was injured off Saipan.

Trout Fishermen
Face Good Season

HARRISBURG, March 16.—(INS)—Pennsylvania fishermen may expect "pretty good luck" when trout season opens April 15 despite destruction of some fish by ice packs. The Fish commission predicted today.

"Some fishing haunts were damaged when moving ice scoured streams," explained Commissioner C. A. French, "but the loss of fish remained comparatively low." He said good hauls were reported by sucker anglers during the winter months. The sucker season is year-round while the trout period will close July 31.

Lone Indian Lays Bridge For Pals Under Jap's Fire

Then Walks 50 Yards Under Enemy's Nose To Get Wounded Friend

By SGT. HENRY McLEMORE
(Army-Combat Correspondent)

WITH THE 37TH DIVISION IN MANILA, March 16.—Joe Cricklin is an Indian. He is a private, first class. He stands five feet two, and weighs 120 pounds, and comes from Whitefield, Okla.

Before he came into the Army, Joe, to use his own words, "didn't do nothing".

But he did enough on two successive days, here in the fight for Manila, to justify a standing alongside any Indians you care to name—Sitting Bull, Tecumseh, or Osceola.

On the first day he made himself a one-man engineer unit. All alone, without being directed, this Indian infantry rifleman constructed a bridge that enabled his company to cross a canal and establish a bridgehead.

No Way to Cross
His battalion commander, Major William C. Fife of Cartersville, Ga., told me the story:

"We reached this canal," the major said, "and there we were. The only bridge was covered by enemy fire of the hottest sort. We tried the bridge and lost eight men. We tried to ford the canal. It was too deep. We tried to use rubber assault boats, and found that the sticky mud and lily pads wouldn't let us make it. All this time the Japs were pinning us down with machine-gun and rifle fire."

"Then I saw Cricklin. He was dragging a big sheet of corrugated tin. He said he was going to build a bridge. We all pitched in and started dragging the tin from shelled buildings. Then Cricklin, putting down his rifle waded out in the canal, and laid that tin across the canal. It took him about thirty minutes, and he was exposed to direct fire."

Last Man Over
"It wasn't much of a bridge, but by running across it the boys didn't sink much more than knee deep, and we got across. The last man to cross was Cricklin. He went back and got his rifle and joined in the attack on the enemy. A mighty good soldier, that boy."

That from his "old man", his commanding officer.

This from his company commander:

"And you know what that little Indian devil did the next day? He went out in a field that was swept by all kinds of fire the Japs have—to get a pal that was hit. He crawled out 50 yards with everything, shooting at him, picked up this fellow that was just about twice his size, and walked back with him."

I asked Joe about all this.

He was sniping from the top of a hotel at the time.

"I'm too busy," he said. "See you later."
